You Hit Them, We Chase Them.

Just a Little Rift.

Rosenwald's $750,000.

Lindbergh Sees Red Flags.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

SNOWDEN, BRITAIN'S little fighting Chancellor of the Exchequer, objects to the talk about "panic" in England. "England has not tapped her overseas wealth," says he.

That is slightly exaggerated, for England is industriously tapping the world's greatest supply of diamonds in South Africa.

And England's gold mines are sending pure beautiful gold to London at the rate of $15,000,000 a month and more.

THE TROUBLE IS, and hence the British tears, that as fast as England produces the gold, France gets it. It reminds you of the modern golf practice fields that rent you a pailful of balls for 25 cents with the slogan: "You hit 'em, we chase 'em."

The English chase them, and the French get them.

A NEW RIFT appears in the Democratic fate for 1932. The very important support of Tammany Hall, in the convention, was supposed to be "all set" for Gov. Roosevelt.

But the Governor, ignoring Tammany's protests, calls a special legislature to increase the power of Judge Seabury, investigating conditions in New York.

Some New York newspapers say Tammany considers this treason and will knife Roosevelt after using him a politically satisfactory rate.

That's one view. Another is that Roosevelt, having read political history, may prefer not to run under the label "Tammany's pet."

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS, indignant that anybody should suggest investigating a city where magistrates line with thugs and call them by their first names, propose to get revenge by investigating Republicans "upstate." A little investigating all around might give interesting results, possibly even in New Jersey.

A young senator of that state supposed to have been shot by a New York young lady whom he had put on the New Jersey state payroll, is said also to have provided the interesting young person with free railroad passes as "an employe of the New Jersey Legislature."

THE DISTRESSFUL shooting occurred, according to the young lady, who cannot explain how it happened, "early in the morning after we had drunk a great deal of gin."

The police say the amount was four or five bottles, which shows that for New Jersey state senators at least prohibition is not absolutely prohibitive.

MR. FRANK L. SMITH, elected to the United States Senate in Illinois, was thrown out by the Senate because of the allegation that Mr. Insull, big power man, had helped to finance Mr. Smith's campaign.

Now Mr. Smith says that Mr. Julius Rosenwald of Illinois offered him Sears Roebuck stock worth $750,000 if he, Smith, would withdraw from the race, making sure the election of his opponent, the senatorial candidate favored by Mr. Rosenwald.

When this was written late yesterday, Mr. Rosenwald had not replied to Mr. Smith.

SOME NEWSPAPERS say that Smith's story broke because of hostility between Insull and Rosenwald, but that seems incredible. Important capitalists are usually intelligent enough to love each other or at least act as though they did.

For Mr. Rosenwald, it may be mentioned without waiting for him to speak, that there is a difference between trying to buy a seat in the Senate and trying to persuade one whom you consider an unfit candidate to withdraw from the race.

THE LINDBERGHS on their interesting flight first to Tokio and then on around the world, are seeking foreign parts with a vengeance.

An early reporter for the Japanese newspaper Hochi found them at Petropavlovsk in the central executive headquarters of Russian rule. The walls were decorated with Red flags with figures of Lenin and Stalin, the dictator gone and the dictator in power.

Lindbergh's impression of Russia would be interesting, but wise Young man, he confines his opinions to his specialty, flying.

FOUR BANK FAILURES in Toledo and 12 building loan associations suspending payments elsewhere in Ohio caused surprise in Wall Street yesterday.

City police and detectives patrolled the banking district. And there was talk of calling out the Ohio National Guard, although bank depositors, done out of their money, are usually not violent.

Our troubles in this country include too many bank failures and too few of those responsible sent to jail.

Some day, somehow, somewhere in America something will make clear to banking heads that wrecking the savings of little people is more than a "regrettable incident."

MISS ANITA GREW, 22

GIRL CONQUERS BOSPHORUS

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 18 (AP).—Anita Grew, 22-year-old daughter of United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, today swam the 19 miles of the Bosphorus Straits from the Black Sea to the Sea of Marmora in five hours.

Her father and two friends followed her in a small boat, playing music on a phonograph and feeding her hot chocolate from time to time. Her mother and other friends met her at the famous Bandero Tower, where the Bosphorus enters the Sea of Marmora.

Miss Grew used the breast stroke over the whole distance.

Inez Norton Takes Poison In Suicide Attempt

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 18 (INS).—Wily blonde Inez Norton, the reputed sweetheart of Arnold Rothstein, slain New York gambler, took poison in a suicide attempt, was a mystery Los Angeles police today were endeavoring to solve.

Miss Norton, a former Follies girl, today was taken to her luxurious apartment in an exclusive residential district and remained under the care of a physician.

She told police she was unemployed and "broke," but officers recalled she was reported to have received $75,000, including $20,000 in insurance, from Rothstein and his estate.

Her apartment and the expensive automobile in which she took the poison would indicate she had ample funds, police detectives said.

After swallowing poison, Miss Norton police said, evidently changed her mind about wanting to die and drove rapidly to a police hospital for emergency treatment.

At the hospital she first gave the name of Inez Mitchell and her age as 28. Police, however, learned her identity from owner's papers found in her automobile parked outside the hospital.

U. S. AGENTS SEIZE BOGUS $10 BILLS

Four Men Held as Suspects On Discovery of Presses, Equipment in Dwelling

United States Secret Service operatives today raided a counterfeiting plant at 142 South Nineteenth street, arrested four men and seized complete equipment for making spurious $10 Federal Reserve notes, they reported.

Led by William A. Landberg, in charge of Secret Service agents of this district, the raiders entered the two-story frame dwelling while two of the suspects were believed to have been engaged in operating a portable press in a small building in the rear. One was in the dwelling.

FOUR ARRESTED

The three were arrested and a fourth later taken into custody on the sidewalk in front of the building.

The four gave their names as Alfred Lux, 38, a mechanic, address of the place raided; A. J. Krone, 35, of 2424 Spring street, said to have recently held a position with a downtown printing and engraving plant; J. E. Bova, 30, of 2004 Pioneer avenue, a barber in a shop in South Fairmount street, and William Anderson, 25, of 2006 Calvert street.

Much of the equipment, and the alleged counterfeits, had been delivered to the house where Bova is reported to have agents allowed.

The wife of Lux was said to be away on a vacation.

The agents reported finding numerous boxes, boxes containing of composition, a printing press, plates, negatives and other paraphernalia in connection with the raid building.

SIX-WEEK JOB

For six weeks the operatives have been watching the movements of the alleged counterfeiters. They had changed quarters several times, it is alleged. The officers had observed material being delivered from time to time. Yesterday they received a tip that the suspects were in the building and hurried to the scene. They found the members of the gang had not yet scattered.

Landberg said that a fake automobile accident was staged to keep curious persons away.

The raid, nothing continuously through the heating, continued about in the chambers of Judge Gray, where the case was taken by

Stolen Bride Prefers Mate to Parents

'Kidnaped' by Parents She Chooses Mate When Court Hears Husband's Plea

An 18-year-old bride, Evelyn Grace Cutnell Czaplinski, of Whittaker, in court today, had to choose between her father and mother, and her 19-year-old husband.

She took the husband.

With a hearing on habeas corpus proceedings starting, brought by Max Czaplinski, of Whittaker, to have the court restore to his home, the young woman broke from her father's arms, threw her arms around her husband's neck, and left him clinging with only when her father paid her.

During the hearing conducted by Judge James H. Gray, Czaplinski testified her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Cutnell of 132 River road, came to their apartment in West Homestead August 6, while he was at work and forcibly took his wife. He said they were married in Dranesburg, July 30 and lived together that week ending.

Before we were married, her father threatened to break my leg if I came to the house."

The father, during the recent proceedings, denied their consent to and asked the marriage annulled because they said was too young. He said they had given their ages as 18 and 19 years, although they were only 19 and 18. Attorney Czaplinski, representing the three persons, said:

I told him I would break his neck if he made fun of my wife."

Mr. Cutnell blamed the youth for keeping his daughter away from home before they were married.

The trial nothing continuously through the hearing continued about in the chambers of Judge Gray, where the case was taken by

SHOTS FIRED IN WARD BATTLE

Attack on Police Head's Kin Climaxes Fight Over Candidacy for Constable

Bullets and fists flew in Pittsburgh's War of Political Posters today with Thomas Walsh, son of Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh, the chief casualty.

His nose was broken when an assailant, unidentified, according to police attacked him in Fifth avenue.

The attack on young Walsh came a short time after a supporter of his brother, Paul, seeking the Republican nomination for constable of the First Ward, had been fired upon from a Magee street house as he attempted to post Walsh's campaign placards.

NO POLICE RECORD

There was no official police record of young Walsh's beating nor of the Magee street shooting episode.

Police were known, however, to be looking for Benny Zeck of 1931 Tilton street and 1812 Forbes street. None of the officers, who had been ordered to arrest Zeck on a suspicious person charge, would admit they knew what the actual accusation against him is.

A. D. Young, backer of Paul Walsh, candidate for constable against Jack Schneider, former Republican chairman and now a constable of the First Ward, was said to have informed police early Sunday that while posting Walsh

"If they put more up, we'll tear them down, too."

Mrs. Pontefract estimated several hundred posters had been removed since Friday. She has been a leader in the movement of Sewickley Valley folks to keep the Ohio River boulevard clear from unsightly billboards and other roadside advertising.

Mrs. Pontefract says the results had been accomplished by "beautiful" the natural shrubbery. An additional $1,000 was expended by the Garden Club of Allegheny County, she said, she personally paid $1,500 to get in the picture.

Mrs. Pontefract made no appeal for others to assist in the work. She decried the possibility that the Ohio River boulevard should become disfigured with signs such as appear on Harrow boulevard.

Mechanic to Tune Up Plane For 'Powder Puff' Derby; Blanche Noyes Crashes

By LOUISE THADEN
Winner 1929 National Air Derby for Women

ENID, Okla., Aug. 18.—What happy days of reunions, excellent flying weather for the most part and cordial receptions at all of my landings!

Since leaving Bettis Field I put in six hours flying to Enid. I expect to hop off today on the continuation of my easy jaunt to the West Coast, where I hope to repeat my 1929 victory in the 'Powder Puff' derby. Flying is no strain over this flat country where you can close your eyes and land. I flew through rain from Jefferson City to Bartlesville.

CHATS WITH PARENTS

My sister, Mrs. W. C. Davis, Jr., of Dayton, left me at Bartlesville where I had an enjoyable visit with my mother and father, who drove over from their home in Bentonville, Ark.

I picked up Mechanic Jack Roth at St. Louis this morning. Having a few small troubles with motor, but expect to have them ironed out before we reach Santa Monica. Mae Harlip, in a monocoupe, is flying along with me to the derby. Her husband, Jimmy, is going to fly a Laird-Solution in the Thompson trophy this year.

Blanche Noyes' Plane Wrecked in Arizona

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Blanche Noyes, Cleveland aviatrix en route to California to enter an air derby between Santa Monica and Cleveland in connection with the National Air Races, tore the landing gear from her plane in landing here. She was not injured.

The gear was ripped away when the wheels struck a ridge of earth left by a grader used in leveling the International Airport in preparation for the air derby.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Completing the first stage of her flight to Santa Monica, Cal., Winnifred Spooner, British aviatrix, arrived here last night from Montreal.

Miss Spooner will participate in the Women's Air Derby from Santa Monica to Cleveland. She is flying the machine piloted by the late John C. Webster, Montreal pilot in the King's Cup Air Race around Britain.

BABY ORPHANED IN DUAL KILLING RECOVERS

McKeesport Man Who Slew Wife, Then Self, Leaves Note Telling of Troubles

The week-old infant, John, that Matthew Spelich, 36, of 911 Park street, McKeesport, tried to smother with bedclothing before he shot his wife and himself to death in their home late yesterday, was today reported recovering in the McKeesport Hospital.

Police rushed the baby to the hospital after Anna Roper, 15, a maid at the Spelich home, told them that Spelich, despondent over unsteady employment, had rushed into the bedroom where his wife was confined and killed her, then firing a bullet into his own head.

The infant, its head bundled in bedclothing, was thought dead when found by police but was resuscitated.

Six other children of the couple, Matthew, Jr., 11; Eleanor, 10; Daniel, 8; Genevieve, 6; Leonard, 3, and Florence, 2, were unharmed. Relatives are caring for them.

Relatives told Deputy Coroner John Artz that Spelich had worked only two or three days a week, and that he had quarreled with his wife before the baby was born last week over bills.

In a note Spelich accused his wife of giving his money to her family, and he ordered that $335 he has in a McKeesport bank be used to bury him.

Large Forces of Federals Reported Joining Revolt; Destroy Bridges, Railway

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Large forces of federal troops in Cuba have gone over to the side of the revolutionists, who are continuing a heated campaign against the regime of President Gerardo Machado, it was claimed in a statement issued from the Cuban revolutionary headquarters at a hotel here today.

Approximately 1,500 federals have joined the insurrectionists in Santa Clara province, the statement declared. A spokesman for Dr. Domingo Mendez Capote, proclaimed president of the revolutionary junta, said that additional defections by federals were expected hourly.

The revolutionary headquarters stated it had no confirmation of rumors that federal troops had deserted to join the rebels near Holguin in Santiago province. Rebel soldiers, it was said by the spokesman, have completely disabled the branch railway between Trinidad and Placetas in Santa Clara province and blown up two bridges on the main line west of Santa Clara City, where President Machado has his "front-line" headquarters.

CLEAR GROCERS J. A. MOORHEAD IN CURRAN QUIZ

Members of the Keystone Company today were absolved of connection in the murder of Morris Curran, North Side beer racketeer, who was shot to death in Perrysville avenue, June 24, after Assistant District Attorney Earl R. Jackson questioned two wholesale grocers.

The organization was drawn into the investigation when Gladys Ulman, the racketeer's sweetheart, named some of its members at the Coroner's inquest and charged price-fixing policies. Pasquale Melaragno, of 1000 Webster avenue, and Joseph Cetto, 1713 Penn avenue, both wholesale grocers, told Jackson that the company was operated as a credit bureau to prevent losses from bad accounts.

Jackson announced he will ask the police to assist with their information as the investigation turned to the early theory that Curran was slain for double-crossing buyers of sugar and stills by notifying prohibition authorities.

Lawyers Scored For Protecting Criminals

BURLINGTON, Vt., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Dr. John H. Williamson, former law enforcement commissioner of Chicago, commenting on the Wickersham commission report on the causes of crime in the United States, charged that the legal profession was failing in its duty to society. He said:

"You cannot expect a commission made up largely of members of the legal profession to criticize that profession. But the facts of the case are that your system tends to protect the criminal rather than to protect society. When the criminal is brought into court the legal profession throws every possible safeguard around him and takes advantage of every technicality of the law to free him even when his guilt is established."

GARBAGE BIDS UNDECIDED

Award of the city garbage removal contract was delayed again today—without explanation. Persons close to the situation were wondering what part, if any, was played by politics.

"The matter is still under advisement. It will be several days before the contract is let to anyone."

He did not explain the delay.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Gloria Swanson, who arrived Friday from Europe, left today for Hollywood to resume her work in motion pictures. Michael Farmer, of Dublin and Paris, who arrived on the same boat with Miss Swanson, was on her westward train en route to Honolulu. Both parried questions regarding a possible romance.

LINDYS TO FLY TOMORROW

NEMURO, Japan, Aug. 18.—(AP)—A radio message late tonight from the Lindberghs at Petropavlovsk, Kamkatcha Peninsula, advised the Ochiishi wireless station here that they expected to start for Nemuro early tomorrow, weather permitting.

Most of today their was fog at various points along the 897-mile stretch to their first stopping place in Japan but there were indications of clearing weather.

Ochiishi Wireless Station here, which intercepted the messages from the steamer Kokusai Maru and other vessels off the Kamchatka coast, was broadcasting weather reports three times daily on the assumption that they would be received by Russian operators at Petropavlovsk and assembled for the Lindberghs.

They were married at the Vassar Club in New York on May 30, and the wedding was kept secret.

Gable has done considerable exploration work in Arizona and New Mexico for the Indian Bureau and for the University of Pennsylvania. He also has been interested in radio broadcasting. He and Miss Stearns collaborated last year in a radio series, "The High Road to Adventure."

HERNDON PAYS JAPAN'S FINE

TOKIO, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., American aviators, today paid fines of $1,025 levied against each of them by the Superior Court here for taking photographs while flying over fortified Japanese areas.

Considering the incident closed, the American embassy, in behalf of the fliers, applied to the Japanese aviation bureau for a permit enabling them to fly to Samushiro Beach, Northern Hondo Island, where they plan to start a non-stop flight across the Pacific to Seattle.

The Japanese foreign office regards the penalty imposed on the fliers as severe and favors granting the permit.

The American fliers came here from Khabarovsk, Siberia, where they ended a projected round-the-world flight started in New York.

Italy, Pope Settle Dispute

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 18.—The dispute between the Fascist government and the Vatican over the suppression of the Catholic youth clubs has been definitely settled, International News Service learned from a high Vatican source today.

Details of the accord were not made known, but it was understood that the agreement would be made public within a few days. It was stated, however, that the quarrel had been ended to the entire satisfaction of the church.

DO-X RESUMES FLIGHT TO N. Y.

By ROBERT G. ASPINALL
International News Service

BELEM, Para, Brazil, Aug. 18.—After being held up for more than a week by motor trouble, the huge German seaplane DO-X left here at 9:35 a. m. today (8:35 a. m. Pittsburgh time) for Paramaribo, continuing its leisurely flight to New York from Rio de Janeiro.

Commander Hamer said the plane would, barring further trouble, reach New York in about a week.

The 11 passengers of the DO-X have idled away their time here more pleasantly than they expected. They visited the beautiful Narazeth Cathedral, built during the rubber boom, yesterday, and admired its gold and onyx altar and stained glass.

Another point of interest visited yesterday was the Paz Theater where Pavlowa danced in 1918. Belem theatergoers recalled that during her engagement here the later ill-fated steamer Vestris put into port for repairs caused by a battle with a German submarine north of the Amazon.

RAPS CONTRACT

[illegible] part of his address, Rees [illegible]

"Under the plan of 'standardization' specifications for materials for road building and maintenance have been limited to certain types of materials, usually the most expensive to the public and most profitable to the contractor. Public interest has been disregarded and private advantage has been uppermost . . .

"In many instances, good hard surface roads have been entirely torn up and replaced by newer and expensive roads. . . .

"One of the most vicious engineering tricks in road construction planning is the practice of authorizing the construction or reconstruction of a section of several miles of road one year and later the second section of connecting mileage.

"When bids for the first section are asked, so far as the public and the average bidder knows, the improvement of but one section is contemplated, the plans for further improvements being withheld from everyone but the favored contractor.

CONTRACTOR "TIPPED"

"As a result, the average bidding contractor, unaware of the future improvements, bids only on the cost of the immediate job, but the 'favored' contractor, tipped as to the improvement of adjoining sections, bids at a lower cost, well knowing that he will be in a position, with his equipment on the site of the contract, to compete at a lower price for the next section and any following section of road.

"If elected Controller, I will put a stop to such vicious practices."

Garland said:

"An autocratic Mayor, with a pliant Council, means inefficient government and less return for every dollar expended.

"In most departments and bureaus of the city, men are employed to perform particular work by reason of political preference rather than on the basis of merit or ability and promotion within the ranks is the exception rather than the rule.

"If there ever was a time for retrenchment it is now."

Armstrong, Mansfield Joining Forces

both Armstrong and Coyne Armstrong it is understood, wishes in advance of an announcement to make it clear to Mellon that he cannot be aligned with Coyne and that Mansfield is his best potential teammate.

COYNE AT PARLEY

Agitation for a Mansfield-Armstrong ticket gained renewed impetus today following an hour's conference yesterday between Coyne and F. R. Crawford, of the McKeesport Tin Plate Company, political godfather of Mansfield. At that conference, Crawford is understood to have made it clear to Coyne that he was interested first of all in the success of the McKeesport senator, and that he believes the best chance for such success lay in a combined campaign with Armstrong.

Crawford is understood to have been actuated in this position by the attitude of several business leaders of Pittsburgh who are in the Armstrong corner. Among them are leaders in the public service corporation field.

The picture of a Mansfield-Armstrong ticket puts the quietus on the efforts of Independent Republicans, led by McGovern, to create a hook-up between the Senator and the minority Commissioner. Considerations entirely without the political field make inadvisable a combination of Coyne and McGovern, even if the latter two could get together on the parceling of patronage in the event of election.

BITTER FIGHT SEEN

Developments of the last 24 hours presage a bitter fight on Armstrong by both Coyne and McGovern each acting independently. Into this struggle on behalf of Coyne may be drawn the whole strength of the administration of Mayor Kline through the influence of his ward chairmen.

Kline is prepared to go down the line for Coyne at the expense of any other candidate, an attitude which may involve a vicious fight over the four places to be filled in City Council.

Councilmen Robert Garland and Charles Anderson, together with former Councilman P. J. McArdle and John D. Houston, whose charges led to the impeachment of Mayor Kline, have been indorsed by the Independents. Against this quartet with the backing of Kline and Coyne are arrayed Councilman Robert J. Alderdice, Traffic Magistrate W. J. Soost, Representative James P. Rooney and John M. Phillips, who was appointed to council to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Councilman George J. Kamlach.

It is expected in political circles the fight on Armstrong by Kline and Coyne attains full strength Armstrong may throw in his absolute rule of the city Republican organization.

The whole picture as it presents itself today, with the election [illegible] four weeks away, is the most complex in the history of Allegheny County politics, with the most experienced and practical participants in the game completely befuddled as to what the developments of each day may bring forth.

An example is the fight for Register of Wills. Joseph N. Mackrell, incumbent, has been indorsed by the Independents, and will have substantial support from organization elements, especially the Armstrong wing. Against Mackrell is entered former County Treasurer E. D. Freibertshauser, with the backing of Coyne and Kline. For some time there has been ill feeling between Coyne and Mackrell, evidenced by the manner in which Coyne through his connection with Auditor General Charles A. Waters has played horse with appointments in Mackrell's office.

Freibertshauser's main purpose at the outset is to keep Mackrell busy defending his own job so he will not be free to devote his time to opposition to Coyne. Freibertshauser remained in the fight at the urgent request of Coyne and the direct insistence of the Mayor.

Withdrawal of Dr. F. H. Frederick as a candidate for Treasurer leaves the field to Sheriff Robert S. Cain and J. Denny O'Neil, Jr. Frederick has been looked upon as an Armstrong entry, and his recession apparently puts this powerful office, with its control over fees and tax receipts through the delinquent tax collector, into the hands of Kline and Coyne.

However, should the fight become a straight-out city-county organization war, O'Neill might profit.

As an offset to Frederick's withdrawal, the Coyne forces removed D. Lee Pryde as a candidate for Controller, leaving that fight to Robert G. Woodside, incumbent, and Maj. W. T. Rees, the latter backed by the McGovern Independents. In this contest the odds all favor Woodside, a Mellon-Armstrong man who incurred the displeasure of Coyne in the last gubernatorial fight.

TOO OLD AND ILL --BABCOCK

County Commissioner E. V. Babcock issued a formal statement after filing his withdrawal papers. It was worded in characteristic Babcock style. He never uses the capital I in a statement or a letter. His statement said:

"Am 67 years old. Have been County Commissioner for seven, Mayor for four and Councilman for two.

"Am greatly interested in the projects being carried on by the Commissioners.

"Would be glad to carry on but feel that my health and strength will not permit. My medical advisers forbid. Hence have withdrawn nomination papers."

LINDSAY FLAYS MACHINE RULE

Alexander P. Lindsay, candidate for judge of Common Pleas Court, renewed his plea for the election of judges free of political control [illegible] yesterday in Clairton, Scalpina, Harrison Township, Harmar Township, Chestwick Farms and Reserve Township. He declared:

"Every machine candidate in the judicial field contends that he is free from political control. It is strange how popular this position has become in recent years and especially since the fight to free the bench in 1927.

"The mere statement, however, by any sitting judge or candidate for judicial office that he is free from political control and that such judge will remain free and unhampered by reason of any possible contact does not necessarily make such an assertion a fact."

Duress Charged In Alderman Withdrawal

Edward F. Yeager, of 448 Wilkins street, Negro candidate endorsed by the city Bureau of Highways and Sewers, has requested a petition to have his name withdrawn from the coming Election Ballot as a Republican candidate for alderman of the Nineteenth Ward, according to Attorney Joseph H. Frank, special deputy attorney general.

Frank told Orphans' Court of the county Election Bureau that Yeager had submitted a letter declaring he had signed the withdrawal paper under duress.

Chapman would not accept the withdrawal.

Jacob Yeager, backed by independent elements in the Nineteenth Ward, also is a candidate for alderman.

GIMBELS DARES Again!

Gimbels dared once! Gimbels dares again! . . . While the rest of the world waited and wondered, Gimbels acted! . . . A few weeks ago we held our first Daring Sale. Daring in conception. Daring in execution . . . We bought a quarter of a million dollars' brand new goods and offered them at no profit to ourselves. Why? To crack the depression wide open in the only effective manner: by selling more goods; putting more people back to work making more goods . . . What happened? You know. The whole quarter million dollars' goods vanished the first two days. Not into thin air. But into the homes of thrifty, sensible Pittsburghers . . . Yes, Gimbels dared once! Gimbels dares again!

Silks are Jealous of the New

Sheer Wools

No wonder! For the new dress woolens are as fine, soft, clear-cut, and in most cases as lightweight as silks themselves. And their colors are wondrously flattering, even the most brilliant, vibrant colors being so mellowed in the wool that they can be worn by everyone.

No wonder the whole town is coming to Horne's for early sheer wool dresses and costumes, for we have an outrivaling collection in the Misses' Shop, the Junior Misses' Section, the Sportswear Shop, the Women's Woolsheer Section, and the section of Large and Small Women's Dresses.

Lead of Men Over Women Declines

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (INS)—The predominance of men over women in America was less in 1930 than a decade ago, according to census figures. But there are still enough men to go around.

The latest census figures show a ratio between men and women of 105.5 men to 100 women. The 1920 census showed 104 males to every 100 females.

The 1930 figures showed that there were then 62,137,080 men in the United States and 60,-[illegible] women. A decade ago the figures were 54,909,435 men and 52,810,183 women.

A warning against substitutes for genuine Kotex

YES, some substitutes are cleverly made to look like Kotex. But that doesn't make them the same.

Are they clean, like Kotex? Scientifically made in surroundings of hospital cleanliness? Have modern methods been used, so that hands have never touched them?

These questions remain unanswered, when you accept a substitute of whose makers you know nothing. But these are questions of vital importance, because they are directly related to your health.

Accept no substitute of whose origin you are uncertain. Demand Kotex—the genuine. Hospitals use Kotex. It fully meets their requirements.

Kotex is supremely comfortable. Shaped to fit. Adjustable. Disposable. Stays soft for hours.

"TOASTING" expels SHEEP-DIP BASE naturally

(Black, biting, harsh irritant chemicals)

present in every tobacco leaf

"They're out—so they can't be in!"

The finest tobacco quality plus throat protection.

Every LUCKY STRIKE is made of the finest tobacco leaves the world can offer—the finest from Turkey—the finest from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas—the Cream of many Crops throughout the world. But all tobacco leaves, regardless of price and kind, as nature produces them, contain harsh irritants. LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—a process that mellows, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds, who use them as a base in making sheep-dip*, as well as a powerful spraying solution for trees, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees. Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!"

No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

Ten automobiles in a parking lot in the rear of five fashionable Squirrel Hill apartments were damaged by vandals early today, according to police.

Police said today that the work was probably instigated by some racketeering garage owner. The five apartments have no garages, but tenants use parking lots along the side and to the rear.

Door handles of the machines which were owned by tenants of the Wimberly, Armada, Windsor, Granada and Cambridge apartments at 5610 to 5660 Hobart street, were knocked off, police said. The top of one car was slashed by a knife.

Police from Squirrel Hill Station were summoned to the apartments at 3 a. m. by Attorney Joseph Cohn, who said he had seen two men tampering with the machines. The suspects drove away a few minutes before police arrived, according to Mr. Cohn.

WESTINGHOUSE NAMES DAVIS

The appointment of R. R. Davis as apparatus advertising director for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company was announced today. In 1925 he was named assistant to the manager of the department and last year became editor-in-chief. He has been active in the creative as well as the executive side of every form of advertising, and its associated media and methods that has been used by the Westinghouse Company.

White House Denies Extra Session Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—President Hoover does not intend to call a special session of Congress to deal with unemployment or any of its related subjects.

Recurring reports that he contemplated calling such a session were said at the White House today to be without foundation.

The President does not feel it will be necessary to call Congress into session earlier than December to organize in time to consider his war debt-reparations moratorium plan.

CLUB WOMAN DELVES AT POMPEII

SOCIETY POLO FOLLOWERS

MISS MARIE McCAHILL

MISS BETTY GREGOR

Two young Pittsburgh society figures who have developed an interest in polo and follow closely the activities of the Pittsburgh polo team at Fittsburgh Hunt, in the Fox Chapel district.

Dr. Nita Butler Takes Unique Vacation

Of all the unusual vacation trips which Pittsburgh club women have made this summer, probably the most unusual is that taken by Dr. Nita Butler, a member of the Colloquium Club. For the last two summers, Dr. Butler went with a group from the University of Michigan on an excavating excursion into Northern Africa. This summer she is following the same sort of interesting work in Pompeii. She left early in June and will not return to Pittsburgh until September.

Mrs. Ralph L. Smith, last year's president, and her family have been enjoying short motor trips all summer. Mr. and Mrs. Smith plan to drive to Wellesley when their daughter, Sarah Bell Smith, returns to college. They will make a leisurely return, stopping at several spots of interest en route.

Mrs. Edward C. Chalfant, Colloquium's new secretary, will remain in Canada until the first of next month. She has spent the summer in the Georgian Bay district.

The little get-together parties which the Cotillion of Club Choral members have been holding during the summer prove the strength of the bond that holds this particular group together. The affairs have in no wise been benefits, but merely opportunities for the members to see and hear of each other at a season when they are not having their regular meetings. These, by the way, will begin the first Wednesday of October. Of the 30 members about two-thirds turn out for the get-togethers which are bridge-luncheons.

Prospective members are invited to tomorrow's affair, which begins at 12 o'clock. Mrs. E. Boyd Birch, chairman of the music department, is back from her summer home in Cadiz and will be present as will also Elsie Breese Mitchell, choral director.

One thousand invitations went out yesterday for the bundle party which the Pittsburgh section National Council of Jewish Women will have on Wednesday, August 26, at the Hotel Schenley. The exhibits, the latest number ever seen at one of the bundle parties, will be a special feature and will be shown not only by council's own handicraft guild and industrial league but by the Western Penitentiary and by the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind and other institutions. And for the first time the guests will be asked to sign the disarmament petitions circulated by the Women's International League for Peace.

A meeting of all chairmen and committee members will be held tomorrow at the Y. M. and W. H. A. at 10:30 o'clock.

Catholic Women Raise $1,434 for Home

From gifts made at the Council House office, the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women has turned over to the relief fund for the Little Sisters of the Poor $1,434. The Little Sisters have assembled their charges at the Wall Home for the Aged, Poor, Benton avenue, North Side, where they may be seen by their friends.

For the benefit of the fund two boatrides have been scheduled, the first to be given on August 27 by the Daughters of St. Ann's Church and the second on August 30 by the Catholic Order of Foresters. Tickets for both are on sale at Council House.

Leave On Trip To Canadian Rockies

Norman MacLeod and Miss Edith MacLeod of Macon avenue, Regent Square, left during the week for a month's trip to the Canadian Rockies and will visit in Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver and Seattle. While in Seattle Mr. MacLeod will attend the national convention of Delta Tau Delta, of which he is the national president. Upon their return they will stop at Yellowstone National Park.

Maryland Welcomes Married Teachers

BALTIMORE (INS)—Sex discrimination in appointing school teachers in Maryland's schools has been routed for all time by Albert S. Cook, state superintendent of Public Schools.

He notified the County Boards of Education and County Commissioners that school teachers cannot be dismissed merely because they are married. However teachers who marry before they complete their two-year probationary period can be dropped without being given a hearing, Cook said.

Harriet Cole Is Bride of T. Thomas

At a quiet ceremony at 11 o'clock yesterday morning in her home, Miss Harriet Cole, of William Penn Highway, who is Federal Court reporter, became the bride of T. Thomas. Only the immediate members of the families were present, and there were no attendants. There was a breakfast after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas left immediately for the seashore and after October 16 will be at home in Pittsburgh. The bride is a member of the Stanton Heights Golf Club and the bridegroom of the Shannopin Country Club.

Miss Clarita Means of Steubenville is spending the past week as the guest of her cousins, Miss Mary Agnes Centner and Miss Ann Elizabeth Centner, of Fifty-fourth street. Mrs. J. F. Centner and her son, Joseph Francis Centner, were the guests recently of Mrs. Centner's mother, Mrs. Edward Zimmerman of Steubenville.

* * *

William A. Forrester, Jr., of New York City, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Forrester of Wood street, Wilkinsburg. Mr. Forrester and his sister, Miss Margaret Forrester, motored over to Columbus to spend the week-end with friends in the Ohio city.

The chairmen of golf at the Highland Country Club, Samuel I. Park and Mrs. Cliff L. Meyers, announce an invitation mixed foursome to take place at the club on September 10 and 11. There will be a dinner dance later. Recently, Highland played the Shannopin Country Club for the Thomas cup.

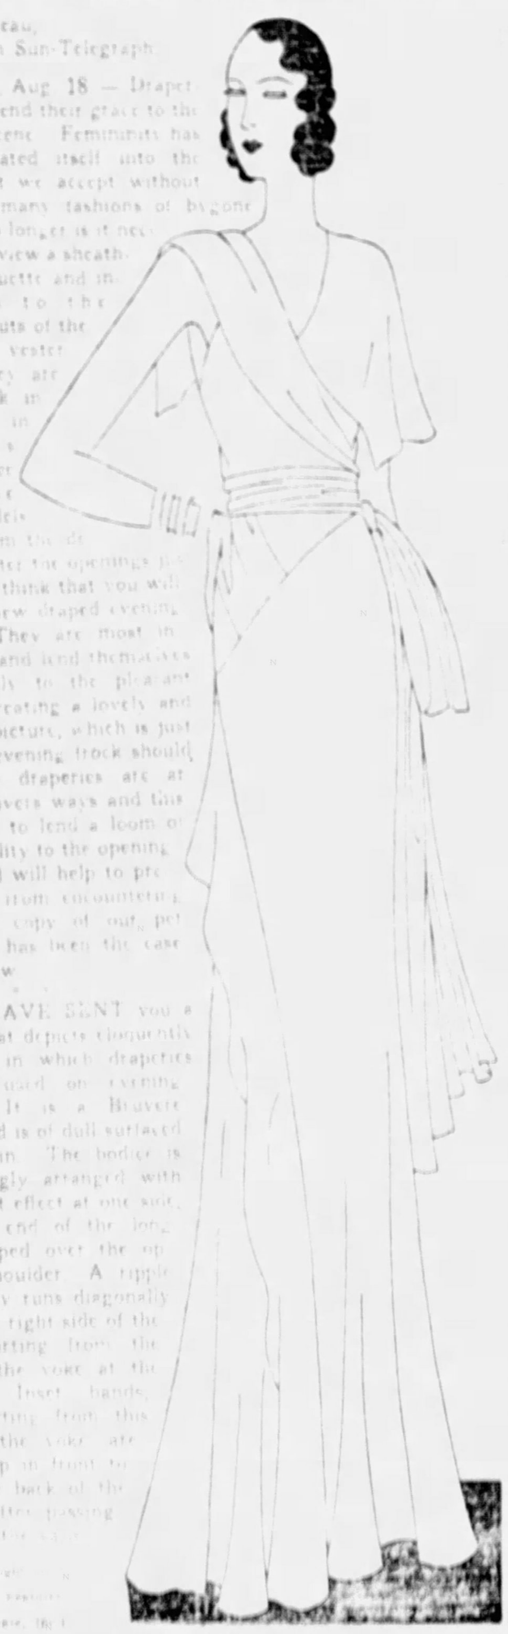
DRAPERIES FAVORED FOR EVENING WEAR

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Aug. 18 — Draperies again lend their grace to the evening scene. Femininity has so insinuated itself into the mode that we accept without question many fashions of bygone days. No longer is it necessary to view a sheath-like silhouette and inquire as to the whereabouts of the drapes of yesteryear. They are back, back in back and in front, as you will see when the new models arrive from the designers after the openings are held. We think that you will like the new draped evening frocks. They are most interesting and lend themselves successfully to the pleasant task of creating a lovely and graceful picture, which is just what an evening frock should do. The draperies are arranged divers ways and this will tend to lend a loom of individuality to the opening mode and will help to preserve us from encountering an exact copy of our pet frock, as has been the case before now.

WE HAVE SENT you a sketch that depicts eloquently the way in which draperies can be used on evening frocks. It is a Bruyere model and is of dull-surfaced ivory satin. The bodice is interestingly arranged with a capelet effect at one side, and the end of the long sash draped over the opposite shoulder. A ripple of drapery runs diagonally down the right side of the skirt starting from the side of the yoke at the hipline. Inset bands, also starting from this side of the yoke, are drawn up in front to form the back of the bodice after passing beneath the sash.



EX-MATE ACTS EXILE DELAYED, AS BEST MAN DANCER TO WED

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—Adolph Erdmann and Sabina de Barrenechea Matacena, bridegroom and best man respectively at the marriage of Lily Ramsey, 18 years ago, will change places August 30 when Miss Ramsey, former Broadway musical comedy star, is divorced from Erdmann, it matters said.

The marriage of Miss Ramsey to the wealthy Cuban sugar planter, Dr. Barrenechea Matacena, is to take place aboard Erdmann's yacht the Aurita off the Connecticut coast, the World-Telegram said today.

The Spanish beauty is reported wealthy to have title to a Cuban sugar plantation, was a close friend of Erdmann's and spent time cruising with Mr. and Mrs. Erdmann aboard their yacht. Mrs. Erdmann use her stage name in receiving her maiden name.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18 (INS)—Details of governmental effort to deport Jadwiga Smolina, ex-former premier danseuse of the Folies Bergere, Paris, and Miss Poland of 1926, will allow her to remain in the United States long enough to become the bride of Walter Grabowski, wealthy Los Angeles man, it was revealed here today.

For a time it was feared the government might return Miss Smolina to Poland before Grabowski's citizen papers became final, but the appeals, answers and new appeals will allow the international beauty to remain here for another six months, it was learned.

The government is expediting case of Miss Smolina because she overstayed her six months permit. She asked that she be allowed to return to Poland temporarily so that she might come back to the United States with her preferred status as the wife of an American citizen.

The villa was occupied in 1874 by King William of Holland, father of Queen Wilhelmina, under the name of Count Van Buren. At the close of the century it was purchased by Prince Vsevoloff Dashkoff, Tiflis, Russia.

OIL MEN FIGHT RATE RAISE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Oil and cement interests today protested against the proposed 15 per cent increase in railroad freight rates with a representative of one oil company urging the Interstate Commerce Commission to give some other method of augmenting railroad revenues.

A. M. Stephens, of Louisville, traffic manager for the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky, suggested the addition of a surcharge of $5 a car on petroleum and petroleum products instead of a percentage increase. He contended a percentage increase would destroy any factor of commercial and community rate relationship.

F. E. Paulson, of Allentown, Pa., vice president of the Lehigh Portland Cement Company, predicted loss of traffic for the railroads if the cement rate was increased.

30 MAYORS CALL COAL PARLEY

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 18—(AP)—J. F. Ebeling, head of the Wheeling and Ohio Valley Business Men's committee sponsoring a plan to stabilize the coal industry in that part of the state, said last night in a statement that 30 mayors of towns and cities in Eastern Ohio, West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania have accepted invitations to confer on the matter here tomorrow night.

Ebeling continued that preliminary statements from the mayors indicated that a general indorsement of the proposal for a new competitive field for the bituminous coal industry in the Tri-state area was likely.

K. OF C. TO HONOR GIBBONS IN '32

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Aug. 18—(AP)—Martin H. Carmody, of Grand Rapids, Mich., supreme knight, in his address today to the forty-ninth annual Supreme Council meeting of the Knights of Columbus, outlined plans for the fiftieth anniversary meeting to be held next year in Washington.

At the anniversary session he said a monument to the late James Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore, will be unveiled.

The supreme knight reviewed the charitable activities of the order during the past year.

He said:

"In compliance with a resolution adopted last year, substantial relief has been given to members of the order and others in the drought-stricken areas of Kentucky, Missouri and Montana. I am pleased to report that all cases requiring emergency relief were promptly cared for and generally before other agencies began to function."

During the year the order has maintained a central bureau of employment at the headquarters in New Haven, Conn., Carmody said, and up to July 28, 1931, had made 43,128 recorded placements in jobs.

FLOOD STRANDS 30,000,000

HANKOW, China, Aug. 18—(AP)—A conservative estimate by officials in the Hankow-Chungking area of the Yangtze valley indicated today that at least 30,000,000 persons were homeless and nearly 10,000,000 of these utterly destitute in the four provinces ravaged by the current Yangtze River flood.

Reports of lawlessness among desperate refugees caused Japanese authorities to set a military patrol around their Hankow concession.

A new danger threatened to arise in the stoppage of the drinking water supply as Han water undermined the reservoir.

John Earl Baker, American who has headed several relief parties in China, reached here by airplane from Shanghai to direct a survey.

GANDHI INQUIRY TO BE GRANTED

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 18—(AP)—Viceroy Willingdon and Sir Ernest Hotson, governor of Bombay, were in telegraphic communication today in regard to Mahatma Gandhi's latest offer to go to London provided the government holds an impartial inquiry into alleged breaches in the Delhi truce.

It was learned that the government is disposed to sanction such an inquiry provided the Nationalist leader does not insist that every minor dispute arising out of the terms of the truce shall be subject to such investigation in the future. The government feels this would indefinitely prolong the controversy.

In any case, some move by the Viceroy, who now is in Calcutta, is expected tonight or tomorrow.

Wales on Air Trip, Arrives at Tours

TOURS, France, Aug. 18—(AP)—The Prince of Wales, who is on a two-week holiday, arrived this afternoon at St. Symphorien Airport.

In view of the bad weather it was uncertain whether he would proceed by airplane to Biarritz tonight. St. Symphorien was Gen. James G. Harbord's wartime residence when he was chief of the Service of Supplies of the American Expeditionary Force.

The Rev. Dr. W. J. Dempster, former Ku Klux Klan leader and spiritual adviser of the organization, which it was in its hey day, is dead.

Dr. Dempster, who was the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Crafton, died suddenly yesterday afternoon on his farm near Grove City, where he had gone to spend his vacation. His home was at 27 North Ewalt street, Crafton.

He was born in Ireland 53 years ago and had been pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Crafton for 13 years. He also was president of the Crafton Ministerial Association at the time of his death. He was a graduate of the University of Montreal.

YELLOW FEVER SCIENTIST DIES

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 18—(AP)—Dr. Aristide Agramonte, 67, survivor of the four-member Army commission which discovered yellow fever was transmitted by mosquitoes and found means for its control, was dead today of a heart attack.

The eminent Cuban physician was stricken last night shortly after he had been ordered to bed for a bronchial attack.

Dr. Agramonte came to New Orleans last month to organize a department of tropical diseases at the new medical school of the Louisiana State University. He had served as professor of bacteriology at the University of Havana from 1900 until his resignation under the Cuban political disturbances this year.

The Army commission of which Dr. Agramonte was a member included Dr. Walter Reed, Dr. Jesse Lazear and Dr. James Carroll. The commission worked with Gen. William Crawford Gorgas.

Nautilus Prepared To Start for Pole

LONGYEAR CITY, Spitzbergen, Aug. 18—(AP)—The batteries of the submarine Nautilus were replenished today in preparation for a start tonight or tomorrow morning on her cruise to the North Pole.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, her commander, still is beset with difficulties. One member of the crew has been ill since he arrived, but expects to be able to make the trip. Attempts to contract an icebreaker or whaling ship to go as a makeshift mother ship were fruitless, and the Nautilus must brave the icy seas alone.

Walsh Ready to Enforce Gun Law

CHIEF TO SCAN APPLICATIONS FOR ARMS

Only Law-Abiding Citizens to Get Permits Under New Act Effective on Sept. 1

While police officials and detectives are divided in their opinion of the Watkin fire arms law, which becomes effective September 1, Supt. Peter P. Walsh today was preparing the office machinery to handle applications for carrying or possessing firearms.

The act passed by the last Legislature makes it imperative that anyone wanting to buy or possess firearms must register with the police and be given a permit.

STRICT ENFORCEMENT

These permits, to be issued by Supt. Walsh, will be given only after application is made, and an investigation by police shows the legitimate need.

Walsh said today, as did Director of Public Safety James M. Clark, that the law would aid in cutting down crime, Walsh added:

"You can be sure only an A-1 citizen will get a permit. And we will keep applications, with description and all data of the applicant, on file."

Clark said while the law undoubtedly was a good beginning there were several loopholes which should be eliminated by the next Legislature.

LOOPHOLE SEEN

Detective Inspector Frank B. Boyd, however, felt that while some provisions of the law were effective, it could be evaded by persons securing guns through the mail from mail order houses, while local merchants were forbidden the right to sell.

Detective Lieut. Edward Harkins felt that while it would accomplish some good, a complementary act, which would make carrying a gun without a permit a five-year in jail offense, would virtually eliminate gun-toting and holdups.

South Can Trade Its Cotton Crop For Our Apples

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Committees have figured out a reason for everything except committees.

Now that the Farm Board has advocated arson we can expect the other committees to subsidize mayhem and encourage other forms of industrial sabotage.

A bumper crop of cotton used to be the signal for great rejoicing in the South. But now it means shaking hands with the well-known white elephant.

Germany made a bid for the surplus cotton and was spurned pronto. But that's nothing new. Henry Ford once made an offer for Muscle Shoals and the only thing that changed hands in that deal was a borrowed lead pencil.

What we need is the return of that old community spirit. Let the Northerners buy a bale of cotton. The South can retaliate in purchasing our apples and both can help out the West by buying corn and grasshoppers.

If politicians can go in for log-rolling, the columnists in order to mutual back-scratching, why can't the rest of us do each other's laundry?

Oklahoma and Texas are solving the oil slump by calling out the militia. Montauk real estate was helped by the Navy. Which leaves the cotton farmers their choice of the blimps or the Marines.

That German bid for cotton was the best we had because it was the only one. We would have lost money on it. But so would the Germans.

BUHL HOUSING CONTRACT AWARDED

Pittsburgh Firm Given First $1,000,000 Unit in Mt. Washington Project

W. F. Trimble and Sons Company, of Pittsburgh, has been awarded a contract for house construction on the first $1,000,000 unit of the Buhl Foundation's Mt. Washington housing project, it has been announced. Construction will begin this week, the announcement states, and 125 homes will be ready for occupancy by May 1.

Most of the grading of the site has been completed by the McCrady Construction Company. Several hundred yards of sewer lines have been installed and work has been started on the water lines and streets.

Work at the site, as well as in the manufacture of the necessary equipment and materials, will offer employment to several hundred men during the winter.

The project is a demonstration by the Foundation of the possibility of employing endowment or private funds in building houses for persons of moderate means. The community being built will not offer any homes for sale, officials said, but all homes will be rented under leases that provide for the maintenance by the Foundation of large central gardens on which the houses will front.

SCHOOL WORK DELAYED BY WALKOUT

14 Construction Jobs of 3 Contractors Affected By Dispute Over Foreman

Removal of union electricians from 14 construction jobs today by Local Union No. 5, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, was immediately met by the Allegheny County Electrical Contractors' Association with a decision to man the projects with nonunion men.

A number of men have already been engaged and more will be hired. Seven jobs affected are public school projects. About 75 men were called off the jobs of three contractors by the union.

CONTRACTORS' STATEMENT

Robert C. Carmack, manager of the Contractors Association, said:

"We have announced that we will abide by the working rule of the union to the letter, but not the dictation of individuals. Many of the men do not even know what the dispute is about as it only affects the wage of the foreman on the job."

Michael Gordon, business agent of the union, declared he had no statement to make.

Carmack declared that the trouble was over changes in the wage scale which he declared the union put into effect without sufficient notice to members of the association employing union men.

WAGE VARIANCE

Carmack declared the union wants the association to pay $12 a day to foremen on jobs costing $2,000 or more, while the association contends the working rule of the brotherhood call for $12.50 a day for all journeymen and $1 a day extra to the man in charge of six or more men.

Two days ago Carmack notified Gordon that the association would not pay the new wage. Yesterday Gordon called the 30 men from their jobs, Carmack said. The three electrical concerns, members of the association whose men were removed, are the Hale Electric Company, the Cronenweth Electric Company and the Hemmerle Electrical Company.

SCHOOL WORK HALTED

Men working for the Hale Company were called form their work at the Lincoln School, the Prospect School, Childs Restaurant's and St. Henry's Church.

The Cronenweth concern had work halted on the Knox School, the Arsenal School and the Larimer School.

The Hemmerle Company had men taken from seven jobs, including the Midlin School, the Latimer School, Arnold School, Rosston Bridge, Westinghouse Bridge No. 7 police station and alterations in the City-County Building.

Zack Fleming raided the place. At Allegheny General Hospital it was said her condition was not serious. The woman and her husband were charged with being suspicious persons and Dorothy Moore, owner of the place, with keeping a disorderly house.

William Hunt, 35, attempted to end his life by swallowing poison in his room at 900 Federal street, the police reported. He was taken to Allegheny General Hospital.

DOWNTOWNERS PLAN OUTING

Judge Joseph Stadtfeld led the Downtowners' last night as they reminisced in the William Penn and laid plans for their coming picnic, August 29, in Kennywood Park.

Much of the color of old pioneer days will be brought back. Lunches will be taken in baskets. Leading Downtowners, who have since their humble days at the Point gained fame, among them Judge James B. Drew, candidate for the State Supreme Court, will be speakers. There will be some old-fashioned pictures taken, badges worn reminiscing and the speakers will tell the history of the Point.

Preliminary plans for the picnic were announced by Senator Frank J. Harris, who presided. He announced that the association would be permanent with banquets and other affairs during the winter.

Among the speakers were Judge Joseph Stadtfeld, Eugene S. Reilly, Robert A. Foley, Louis Alpern, Martin McTighe, Saul Busman, Leonard S. Levin and Joseph S. Rice, whose father owned "Rice's Castle," described as Pittsburgh's first apartment, formerly at the Point.

Jules Mayer, Glendale builder, testified in an information he was having lost $10,000, said the entire sum and more had been returned to him.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 18.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Wasn't much happened over the week-end outside of Texas put on a little earthquake which California papers brought up to giant proportions. Winston Churchill made the front page by hanging on to Bernard Shaw's whiskers and Nancy Astor's petticoat. He is stepping out of his class of wits with those two. He has misfit into too many prominent positions in England to shoot at those two successors. Borah says that France is better off than any nation today. Well, if you remember, they are the only one that went to work and saving the minute the war was over. We are just starting now. Yours, WILL.

Vote Board Appointments Divided Among Bryan Men and Independents

The Miles L. Bryan faction and the McKees Rocks Independents each was accorded two election board appointments by Judge James H. Gray in Quarter Sessions Court, when he handed down decisions in all but one of the contested places. The Judge had previously appointed one member of each faction to vote boards and one man indorsed by both factions.

All take places of borough policemen and other employes ousted from the boards after Attorney Ralph H. Smith, for the Independents, had petitioned for the removal on the grounds that it was unconstitutional for a borough or county employe to serve on an election board.

BIRTHDAY AWAITED

In the one case yet to be decided, one of the applicants will not be 21 until the latter part of this month, and Judge Gray postponed final hearing until after this date. Those appointed yesterday follow:

Judge, First District, First Ward, Elizabeth Heffron, Independent, vice F. J. O'Donnell, removed. Clarence W. Hohl was the Bryan faction applicant.

Minority Inspector, First District, First Ward, H. A. Munn, Bryan faction, vice George W. Gast, removed. John Gutt had been the Independent candidate.

Judge, Third District, Second Ward, Joseph Obusck, independent, vice Street Commissioner R. H. Arnedt, removed. Patrick Morgan was the Bryan candidate.

Judge Gray also appointed M. P. Tiernan to be Majority Inspector of the Nineteenth District of the Fourth Ward, in place of J. P. Curry, Sr., deceased.

Bone Grafting Ends Paralysis Of Koppel Man

For the first time in two months Justice of the Peace S. P. Weber of Koppel was walking again yesterday, following an operation performed at the Rochester General Hospital by Dr. J. O. Wallace of Pittsburgh and Dr. Harry W. Bethards of Rochester. The operation ended paralysis due to a spinal injury.

Ten years ago a heavy steel door fell across Weber's back while he was at work in a Koppel plant. He recovered sufficiently to walk, but two months ago his legs were affected by the old injury.

Using a local anaesthetic, the two surgeons grafted to Weber's spine four slivers of bone taken from his legs, making it possible for him to walk again.

A mother and her 16 year-old son were held by Magistrate T. D. Jones in Morals Court today on charges growing out of the alleged robbery of $2,000 in jewels and other articles from Squirrel Hill homes.

Mrs. Athone Olarich, 40, of 403 Elm way, the mother, was charged with receiving stolen goods. Her son Joseph was charged with entering a building and with larceny. David Gillen, 17, of 74 Van Braam street, implicated in a Homewood robbery by Olarich, was held over.

LOOT RECOVERED

Olarich testified he had secreted the plunder in the cellar of his home. All of it was recovered, detectives said, except an $800 ring taken from the Bode residence. Mrs. Olarich testified she had turned the ring over to detectives. The latter denied seeing it.

Gilpen, recently was released from Montgomery and is guilty of violating his parole, detectives charged. He was not involved in the Squirrel Hill robberies, they said.

M'DONALD TEST EXPECTED

LONDON, August 18.—(INS.)—The "economy committee" of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald's cabinet met at 10 Downing street today to draft concrete proposals to meet the existing economic crisis.

The proposals will be submitted to a full meeting of the cabinet tomorrow.

With the two opposition parties promising to aid Premier MacDonald in his efforts to balance the budget, the Labor cabinet was chiefly concerned today with growing recalcitrance in the Laborite ranks.

It was freely admitted that Thursday, when the trades union council of the Labor party meets, will be a "critical day," as staunch Socialists are expected to decry the government's reported determination to slash unemployment doles and other Socialistic expenditures to meet the crisis.

MIKE BUSKO, 45, AND BITTEN HAND . . . "ME STRONG MAN"

'Doomed' Man Marks Year's Survival By Doing Wash

Today is the anniversary of Mike Busko's survival of a mad-dog bite.

A year ago Mike was bitten three times on the right hand by his pet dog at his home, 3428 East Carson street. Examination showed the dog was suffering from rabies.

Busko, 45, persistently refused medical attention and walked out of the West Penn Hospital without receiving the Pasteur treatment. Doctors there predicted his probable death within a year.

But today, Mike vigorously did the family washing while his wife sat on the door step. He said:

"Bah, me strong man. Only weak man die from dog bite. Gonna die, die. Not from dog bite."

When Toes Itch Underneath and Between WATCH OUT

Your toes and feet may be infested with that vegetable parasite called Tinea Trichophyton—if besides itching, the skin is cracked and blistered, you may be pretty sure they are.

This new disease is called Athlete's Foot because this germ flourishes in the dressing and bathrooms of clubs and gymnasiums, schools and colleges, and even in hotel and home bathrooms.

Over ten million people are infected, according to medical authorities—get rid of it before it spreads to the bottom and sides of foot and brings more itching and distress.

With one bottle of Emerald Oil you can end all the misery, itching and distress and have sound healthy feet again in 2 weeks or money back—an $5-cent bottle lasts 2 weeks. Pharmacists everywhere in America dispense it.

GRIFFIN'S FOE OFF TICKET

Henry Griffin, Hill district Negro, before Judge James H. Gray in Common Pleas Court today, testified he did not know he had signed papers entering his name as a candidate for Fifth Ward Alderman.

Griffin's name, it was charged, had been entered to confuse voters with the name of Martin J. Griffin, present Alderman and candidate for re-nomination.

Judge Gray vacated the Negro's place on the ballot, although Griffin himself had withdrawn officially.

Griffin said he had been "taken for a ride" to Youngstown, O., and left on a corner, told "to wait until his companion returned." His companion never came back.

He declared "Abe" Feldman and "Buck" Reinecker obtained the names signed to his petition and later took him before Robert H. Logan, Negro, former Alderman, before whom affidavit was made. Names on the petition were declared forgeries.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park will investigate.

GIRL JAILED IN AUTO CHASE

Edna Bulkoski, alias "Thompson," 22, of Cleveland, was brought to the county jail last night following a hearing before Squire Gunsallus, of Oakmont, who ordered her held for court on a charge of violating the automobile laws. She was driving through Oakmont without lights on her car when she struck a traffic sign and failed to obey a traffic officer's order to stop, it was alleged. She was arrested after a chase. She was ordered removed to the county jail following her failure to post a $1,000 bond.

Officers to Judge Legion Buglers

Regular Army officers will be judges in a contest of 27 drum and bugle corps from towns and cities in the tri-state district in the World War Memorial Park, McKeesport, Thursday night, August 27. It will be sponsored by Burt Foster Post No. 361, American Legion of McKeesport.

Man Hurt By Auto, Police Hold Driver

Alfred Millerman, 43, of 118 West South Diamond street, was injured when struck by an automobile at Federal street and Plush way, early today. R. J. Huy, of 2626 Spring Garden avenue, alleged driver, was charged with reckless driving by North Side police.

HUDSON SEAL*

During August

$168

$225 is the September price for this densely furred Hudson Seal. Make your selection now to save $57. Compare the richness, the depth of the nap, the black brilliance to any coat you have seen at half again the price.

Note the larger armholes, collar interest, molded waist and straight lines. All important for a style future.

Today's Tid Bit:

WHY this is a novel fight all right. Nobody cried foul.

This fellow Comerford NBC tenor has a voice similar to James Melton's and he'll go places.

Studio Lights

L. Brown told Dick Powell that he welcomed an opportunity to speak over the radio because it saved him the usual $1.50 telephone toll to his wife in Hollywood.

That sad Wagnerian opera Tristan and Isolde is booked for WCAI this afternoon at 4 direct from Berlin.

We still adore a decided preference for the Virtuosos on WCAI at 8:30.

Alice Mock sings Estrellita and the ensemble on KDKA at 8, the same hour that WCAE offers Hal Kemp's Orchestra from the Willows.

Francis Owen is in his home town of Hansville N. Y. assisting in preparations for the Red Cross broadcast there on Wednesday, September 9. Francis' relatives run the town.

THE LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Every form of sport has now been aired to the cretonne sofas with the exception of grouse-shooting in Scotland. Expect any day to hear that the broadcasters have taken up the trail of America's gun-toting millionaires on the moors.

Nice, expensive sport, grouse-hunting. It ought to appeal to the radio viziers, who are ever snapping their fingers at expense accounts. If we can't have from Stalin what the proletariat is doing in Russia we might know how J. P. Morgan, Clarence Mackay, Herbert Pulitzer and others are doing in Scotland. More interest centered in Jimy Walker's talk from Berlin than in any remarks he has aired from City Hall. Distance lent anchantment. Hizzoner's broadcast was sponsored by the Associated Press. News agencies are getting friendlier and friendlier to radio.

Next to the M. Downey Columbia now points to Kate Smith hefty crooner, as its bright particular star. Mlle. Smith uses good showmanship, always reserves a place on her song bill of fare for a "memory melody"... Listeners like the told tunes best ... Perhaps that's why fewer new tunes are being written... Jazz maestros have become the matinee idols of today, thanks to radio. Yet, they can also boast of millions of masculine admirers, something that was denied to the matinee idols of yesterday... Wisest of the jazzbos do not get far away from the big towns. It does not pay them in the maintenance of their radio popularity. George Olsen made the mistake of getting too far away. Today his name is seldom mentioned in lists of the grand dukes of the dance.

* * *

M. H. Aylesworth invariably reaches for a pipe and tobacco bearing an English label when he grants business interviews... Feminine harmony trios have succeeded feminine harmony duos on the ether.

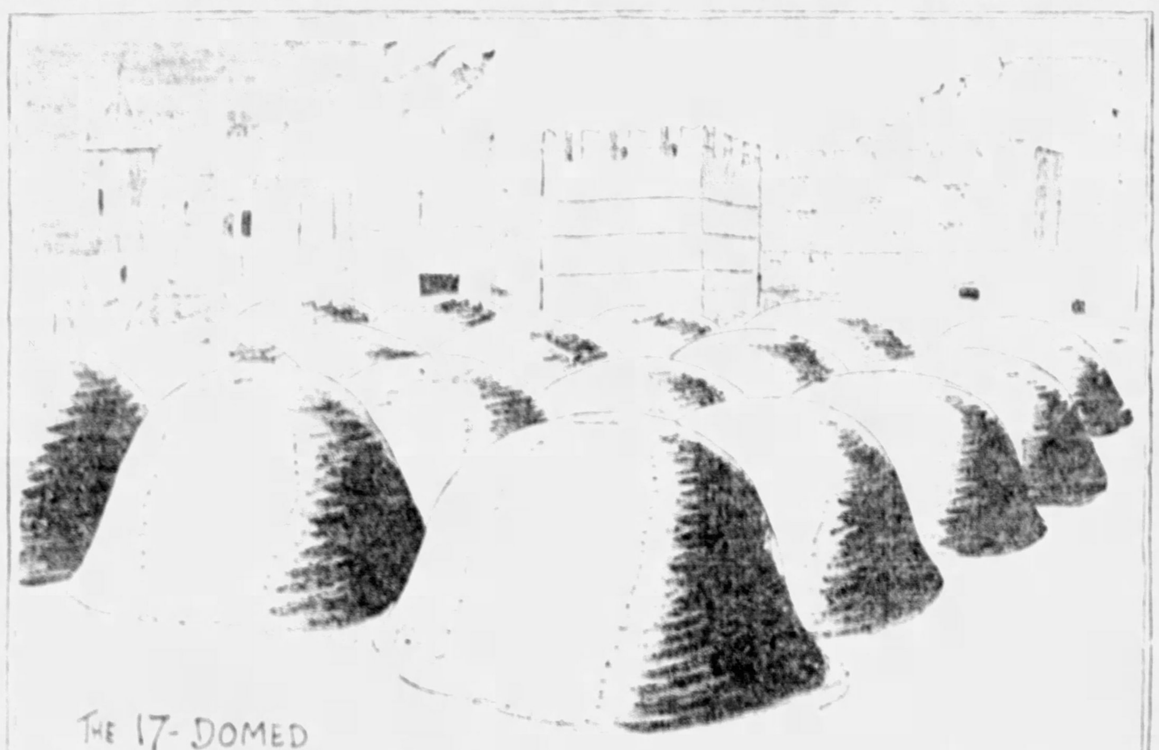
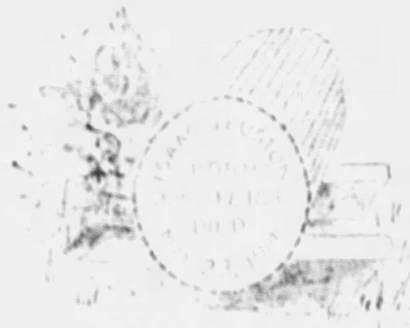
BELIEVE IT OR NOT

(Pat. U. S. Patent Office) — By RIPLEY

(On request sent with stamped addressed envelope, Ripley will send proofs and details of anything depicted by him in these cartoons.)





EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE MAN WHO READS WITH HIS TONGUE.—In June, 1926, when William McPherson was 10 years old, he was working in a Colorado stone quarry drilling and placing dynamite. A premature explosion injured him to such an extent that he lost both arms and his eyesight, thus depriving him of the ability to read with his fingers the raised letters used by the blind. However, he set to work resolutely learning to read Braille and Moontype letters with the tip of his tongue, having his teacher trace each character on the bare skin of his back between his shoulder blades—one of the most sensitive parts of the body. Today he not only reads with ease, but can turn the pages of the book with his tongue. McPherson, recently interviewed at his home, 1918 East Seventy-first street, Kansas City, Mo., says he is the happiest of men and the physical darkness does not prevent him from being spiritually bright.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—The Pirates are anything but good company as they daily brave The City of Brotherly Love engenders cool will for the native and visitor alike. Not only will it not tolerate but very little of an attempt at a cross word after 1 a.m. Even the Boys who sell ice cream and the peanut fellows are on the grim side.

The reason for all the ice is believed to be found in the two of three games the Pirates have dropped to Saturday and Sunday crowds.

SPLIT DUAL BILL

The Pittsburghers split their dual bill of yesterday but they were not satisfied with the half load. In view of their double loss in the swamp of Saturday they had to have a commensurate victory to lose their feelings. The right arm and wise ladyes Phil Collins and Claude Willoughby have been the Pirate pressers to do all the work. The Brooklyn were the first victims of the Collins' ire, but they in turn gave way to the cudgels of the Phillies as the home team copped the game 5 to 0.

Glen Spencer will attempt to throw back the Quakers this afternoon in the last game between the two clubs in Baker Bowl this season. This Benge is likely to start for the home team although Jim Elliot will be available if he has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness.

This game will end a season's series at the Pirates' home grounds which has been all wet as far as the Bucco are concerned. Isn't it almost sickening to ponder the fact that the Bucco have been tripped eight times in 10 stops at the Baker Bowl?

Larry French flipped a fine game as the Pirates copped the opener yesterday. Take the errors out of the game and French would have landed a shutout victory. Larry contributed a muffed grounder that paved the way for both of the home tallies in the sixth. The Bucco scored four

BROIDA MEETS BARTEL TODAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

DETROIT, Aug. 18.—Frank Broida, scout of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh public links champion for the last 10 years, and by his victorious initial round of the 1931 National Public Links championship at Evanston, Ill., Park here this afternoon, Harold Bartel of Chicago, open champion for the past two years, and

By the yesterday afternoon of Fred Lubrano, Kaufmann, Pittsburgh, and Bartel, Chicago, in exceedingly impressive fashion, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, and appear to have a most formidable and powerful if occasionally erratic game.

MRS. ARTZBERGER LOSES

Mrs. Jess Artzberger, Pittsburgh feminine representative, caught a tough break by drawing Mrs. Virginia Hunter, St. Louis ace and defending premier in the second bracket of the meeting. Both contestants landed here through second spot. The Western Pennsylvania contender fought gallantly and flashed tennis far superior to the brand usually credited to her appearance in the mid-continental championship. However, the steadiness of the Missourian proved too much for her somewhat unorthodox attack and she went down fighting, 6-1, 6-2.

Mrs. Artzberger's forgetting tactical sin was persistency in pushing backhand returns short to Mrs. Hunter's capable western forehand and in following these perfunctory flips by stepping in the danger zone at the barrier, mechanically. The Pittsburgher tended to undercut and to wobble before the sharp fire directed at her backhand.

Broida raced through the initial day without action, his first-frame opponent, Murray Rae

Says Nick Altrock

Baseball's Comedian

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 18.—I think night baseball would be a success in St. Louis if the Browns played in the dark.

Even the Cardinals have to play doubleheaders to get a good Sunday crowd, so you can figure how much interest the Browns attract.

There hasn't been a quorum present since we hit town. The Browns would get bigger gate receipts if they traded a couple of infielders for an Oriental dancer and had her make her motions in the pitcher's box.

Say, I wish Hoover and the government Weather Bureau gave us a moratorium on heat. Either that or give us cool beer. If my beads of perspiration were only glass, I would look like an Indian.

SUTTER BOWS AT NEWPORT

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 18 (INS).—In a second round upset, Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, La., fifth in the 1930 American tennis rankings and seeded sixth in the tournament, today was eliminated from play in the fifteenth annual invitation singles for the Casino trophy.

Sutter, who advanced into the second round by a default, met his waterloo at the hands of J. Gilbert Hall, of East Orange, N. J., conceded in straight sets 6-4, 6-4.

Johnny Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J., seeded eighth had a hard time advancing through Wilbur Coen, of Kansas City, young protege of Big Bill Tilden, but won after dropping the first set, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Hall meets Bryan M. Grant, Jr., of Atlanta, in a third round match this afternoon.

Berkeley Bell also gained the third round by defeating Wallace Scott, Portland, Ore., 6-2, 6-4, and that bracket was filled when Edward W. Burns, of New York, upset the experienced Eddie Pritchman, also of New York, 3-7, 6-3, 6-2.

In the feature match yesterday Frank X. Shields was extended to the limit to defeat Eddie Jacobs, of Pitt and Baltimore, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Late Phoenix Owner Former Pittsburgher

Edward L. O'Malley, president of the Phoenix club of the Arizona-Texas League, a former Pittsburgher, died from causes unknown, it was announced in Phoenix following an inquest by the coroner. O'Malley left Pittsburgh for Phoenix 17 years ago.

He was born at the old Point and attended school in Allegheny. He leaves his widow, the former Bertha Cores Cornman, formerly of the North Side, two sons and a daughter.

CUBS CONTINUE DRIVE, TAKE SECOND PLACE

GIANTS SPLIT WITH CARDS; REDS WIN

Associated Press.

The Chicago Cubs, picked in April to give the Champion St. Louis Cardinals a fight for the National League pennant, apparently have decided a little late in the day to do something about the runaway the Cards have made of the race in Heydler circuit.

Winning their second doubleheader with the Boston Braves in as many days, the Cubs charged right past the New York Giants into second place yesterday and today stood a mere eight and one-half games to the rear of the high-flying Cardinals.

MALONE HURLS WELL

Pat Malone turned in one of his very best performances in the opener against the Braves, which the Cubs won 6-1. The fortunes of war shifted swiftly for Randy Moore, Braves third-sacker, in the nightcap, which went 10 innings before the Cubs won out, 3-2. Moore drove in the two tying runs with a triple in the eighth but his wild throw in the tenth put Grimm on base and the Cub veteran later scored the winning run on Bell's single.

Home runs by Bottomley and Haley in the eighth gave the Cards a 6-to-5 win over the Giants in the first game but the Giants took the second contest, 7 to 5, by shelling Paul Derringer from the peak with a five-run assault also in the eighth inning. Travis Jackson, Giant shortstop, was forced out of the game with a broken nose when he was hit by Gelbert's drive in the fifth inning of the nightcap.

Brooklyn lost more ground as the Cincinnati Reds took two games, 4 to 1 and 8 to 3, behind great pitching by Silas Johnson and Owen Carroll.

YANKEES LOSE

In the American League, the New York Yankees, holding third place, fell to a position five games from the Washington Senators and 16 from the Philadelphia Athletics by accepting an 8 to 2 trimming from Detroit.

An early attack on Pat Caraway gave the Boston Red Sox a 5-to-2 decision over the Chicago White Sox.

All other American League clubs had an off day.

Billy Evans Honored As Indians Lose, 10-7

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Billy Evans came back yesterday to be honored by home town fans, only to see his Cleveland Indians lose to the Youngstown Middle Atlantic League team, 10 to 7.

Evans, former dean of American League umpires and now general manager of the Indians, got his baseball start here. The score:

MAXINE CUDEN

Miss Cuden, daughter of Dr. C. S. Cuden, of Squirrel Hill, local golf pioneer and one of the organizers of the Thornburg Country Club, finished fourth in the 18-hole qualifying round of the annual women's city golf championship and advanced to the second round today when she eliminated Miss G. Alter, 6 and 5. She is only 18 and this is her first tournament competition.

FAVORITES WIN AT SCHENLEY

All the favorites in the annual women's city golf championship at Schenley Park today came through their first round matches unscathed. Mrs. Eva Blair, the defending champion, Mrs. Margaret Curry, a former champion, Mrs. A. J. Josephson, Miss G. Kelleher, Katherine McLaughlin, Miss Maxine Cuden, Mrs. Donald and Mrs. C. F. Haller will play tomorrow in the second round of the fight for the John Jay Burke and Grogan cups.

Mrs. Blair had a narrow escape when she was only able to defeat Mrs. O. I. Isaacs, 1 up. Mrs. Curry made short work of Mrs. C. E. Brinkman, 4 and 3.

The most one-sided match of the first round was the elimination of Mrs. I. Isaacs at the hands of Katherine McLaughlin, 7 and 6.

Mrs. Blair is in the upper bracket and Mrs. Curry is in the lower bracket and it is not unlikely that they will meet in the final match on Friday.

Tomorrow Mrs. Blair opposes Katherine McLaughlin and Miss Kelleher plays Mrs. Josephson. Mrs. Curry encages Mrs. Haller and Miss Cuden plays Mrs. Donald. Today's summary:

Outfielder Watwood Lost to White Sox

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—(AP.)—Just about the time Manager Donie Bush, of the White Sox, was beginning to think the injury jinx had departed, back it popped and Outfielder Johnny Watwood was lost for two weeks.

Watwood suffered a wrenched muscle in his back during Sunday's doubleheader with Boston and an examination yesterday revealed that the injury is serious enough to keep him out of uniform for a fortnight. Willis Norman, recruit recently obtained from the Western Association, will sub for Watwood.

Right after the war you got about* TWO tire miles for one cent. Today you get nearer THIRTY

Why buy a Second-Choice Tire when First-Choice costs no more?

You expect bargains these days in everything you buy, but in almost no other article can you find such extraordinary value as in a Goodyear Tire.

Prices are the lowest in the history of the automobile — but, more than that, quality is the highest.

As an example, in 1918 the price of a 30 x 3½ cord (the commonest size) was $41.65. Now, a Goodyear balloon for the same make of car (size 28 x 4.75-19) sells for $8.55.

That's only about a fifth of the price; and it's putting it modestly to say that today's Goodyears will give three times the mileage.

HERE'S HOW TIRE VALUES HAVE SOARED IN RECENT YEARS

YEAR	29 x 4.40-21
1925	$19.90
1926	17.90
1927	12.10
1928	11.45
1929	8.25
1930	8.25
1931	7.05

Right after the war you got about two tire miles for a cent. Today you get nearer thirty for a cent from Goodyears.

And that's not saying a word about the incomparably greater comfort and style and safety of the new standard All-Weather Tread Tire as Goodyear builds it now!

Isn't it short-sighted to risk delays and danger on thread-bare tires when the first-choice tire of the world can be bought at today's record-breaking low prices?

Of course it is! And when you buy new tires let your commonsense answer the question, "Why buy a second-choice tire, when first-choice costs no more?"

The Giants recalled him from the Bridgeport club, of the Eastern League, just before sending him against our Buccaneers ... He won 16 games and lost only three for Bridgeport and was the leading strikeout artist of the league ... Wonder whom Doc McClelland, the local boxing commissioner, will have for a companion and bodyguard when Dr. Sutherland, the Pitt football coach and his pal, goes to the training camp near Windber ... that is, aside from his other buddy, Davis Roberts?

JACK KID BERG, the former junior-welterweight champion ... retired Friday who is going great guns in England ... 34 consecutive victories, 20 of them by the ... He fights in the same hurricane fashion as Jack ... to pack a ton of punch ... Tommy Grant, timekeeper ... as is to be appointed a judge ... Tony Canzoneri ... Bobby Leonard still can make the lightweight limit he'd ... Mickey Walker up to him and hand him for it ... Of ... have his eye on the gate stuck a match would draw ...

YOU PROBABLY DIDN'T know it, but Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, former national champion, offered her Wightman Cup for seven years before it finally was accepted as a symbol of international supremacy in women's tennis ... Now it ranks alongside the Davis Cup for men ... Out on the coast they are looking for Doc Tubbs Spears, former Dartmouth and West Virginia coach, to turn out the surprise team of the coming football season in that part of the country ... He has lost Hitzmiller, the Flying Dutchman, star of his last year's team, but will manage to struggle along some way ... Jack Barry, former local boxer and now leading promoter of Erie, recently drew a $4,000 house with a Frankie Bojarski—Billy Wallace fight and everyone sat up and wondered ... Barry is a young man of ideas ... One of them is to admit women patrons, if accompanied by male escorts, for 50 cents ... If you buy two tickets and stipulate that you are going to bring along a feminine companion you pay full value for one ticket and only 50 cents for the other one, even if it is a ringside pasteboard.

THAT LATEST AUTOMOBILE racing flop at New Kensington just about ought to snuff out those dirt track promotions, which are run on shoestrings and are as much of a burden on the public as hippodromed wrestling matches ... All eyes now are on Lefty Grove, as, with 15 consecutive victories to his credit, he blazes away at the record of that other great southpaw, Rube Marquard, which is 19 wins in a row ... Those two weekend interest polo matches at the Pittsburgh Polo Club held did much to promote interest in the sport hereabouts ... And the best people go to those things.

Dave Shade Wins Over Willie Oster

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Dave Shade, middleweight veteran of San Francisco, easily defeated Wild Willie Oster, of Boston, in a one-sided 10-round bout in the White City Arena last night.

Bobbing and weaving, Shade was too elusive a target for the heavily muscled boy from Boston. Shade won nine rounds, with Oster taking the sixth when Shade eased up.

of the gate rivals. The first time they met, McTiernan, the favorite, drew down 30 per cent against 17 per cent for Belmont.

Buck started off in great style last night, easily winning the first three rounds on his boxing. He was popping in lefts and crossing rights and tying up Belmont in the clinches or pushing him away after landing. The fourth saw Belmont come roaring out of his corner bent on living to dispute the fourth-round knockout of their preceding clash. He was so anxious that he often fell down as he missed a vicious swing. The aggressor throughout the round, he finally landed a right to the chin that made McTiernan hold on in a clinch just before the bell, and it was Jimmy's first winning round.

SLUGGING PROVES COSTLY

McTiernan outboxed his man in the fifth but lost the sixth by a slight margin when Jimmy began working on the body with solid punches. Buck had a slight edge in the seventh and, in the eighth, was going at his best, keeping on top of Jimmy, popping him with lefts and raining short rights off his chin. It looked like a cinch that he would walk in.

Then his gambling instinct that bent his thoughts on a knockout got the better of him and led him blindly on to discard his boxing skill to shake free in the other fellow's game and bring about his downfall.

It looks for all the world as if this fellow Belmont is McTiernan's Nemesis and it may be that Buck never will beat him again. There's such a thing as the old Indian sign in the ring game you know, and right now Jimmy appears to have it on Buck. They may meet again already there's talk of another match at Motor Square Garden during the winter season and the thing would be a big draw once more, because both of their battles at the Bowl have been thrillers with sensational finishes in which the man who was leading off by himself on points wound up being knocked out.

WEST STOPS HARRIS

McTiernan weighed 151¾ pounds and Belmont 147¾, for last night's battle as they weighed in during the afternoon. Belmont was a quarter-pound heavier and McTiernan a pound lighter than for their meeting several weeks before.

The scheduled eight-round semi-final also ended in a technical knockout. Referee Jack Henderson stopping it after 2 minutes 35 seconds of the seventh round to save Harry Harris, of Bellaire, O., 164¼, from further punishment by Tiger Joe West, of Brookline, 164¼. Harris won the first two rounds on his boxing and hard hitting, but then began to weaken under West's body pounding and collapsed at the end of the fourth, the bell saving him at the count of eight. He rallied to put up a hard fight thereafter and several times hurt West with his dangerous rights, but was reeling under the impact of a blow when the referee acted.

Joey Spiesel, Uniontown southpaw, defeated Matty Oldach, of Erie, in the second bout of six rounds, with both weighing 139 pounds; and Bobby Covaut, of Columbus, O., 141½, subbing on short notice for Marion Condi, was knocked out by Joey Bazzone, of McKeesport, 138½, after only 1 minute 29 seconds of fighting in the first round of the opener.

GREGORIO HERE NEXT.

Frank Ferris and Jock Simco were the judges, Tommy Grant and A. C. Couch the timers, Dr. M. R. Goldman, the commission physician. Ray Eberle was back on the job as announcer following his vacation trip in the East.

It was announced that Jackie Rodgers and Vidal Gregorio, the Spaniard, would box the main bout at the Bowl next week, with Marty Gottlick, of Whitaker, meeting Ray Collins, of Erie, and Jimmy Kelly, of Dayton, O., opposing Eddie Brannon, of the Hill, in two eight-rounders, and Bobby Wilson, of the East End, brother of Jackie, meeting Jimmy Reilly, of McKeesport, in the opener.

Forecasters Paint Gloomy Picture, But—the Laugh Is On Them

By Wall Street Spectator

READ THIS FORECAST:

"The farmers will not buy much from the proceeds of this harvest, and, with the price declines in process throughout the world, there would seem to be little prospect of any extensive business revival in the near future.

B. C. Forbes

"The general prospect is for slow and irregular business for 10 years.

"Conditions abroad will continue to affect our business conditions here. It is a conservative estimate to say that 10 years may elapse before we can see genuinely prosperous business in this country."

That was the verdict proclaimed by a group of leading financial statisticians meeting in New York, reports Prof. William Foster.

HERE ARE SOME typical complaints made by Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company executives at a distributors conference in Akron:

"Tires are running so much farther now that it hurts business. You don't sell the same man near as much as you used to.

"The tire factories are selling out their own stores and branches to commercial accounts as low as our cost and sometimes lower.

"The car dealer is selling tires down below our cost in order to make himself a good fellow with the man who buys an automobile from him.

"The hardware jobber, the grocer, drug jobbers and mail order houses are buying tires very cheap and they are taking away a lot of our trade.

"These fellows who have trucks and are doing hauling are very poor credit. They abuse the tires and when you ask them to pay their bill they want free adjustments."

HERE COMES the rub.

The statisticians meeting was held on November 4, 1921, not 1931, but 10 years ago.

The tire dealers conference was held in November, 1918, 13 years ago.

WHAT ACTUALLY happened after these blue-and-indigo gatherings? says Prof. Foster, concerning the 10 years-ago period.

"At that time business was actually improving, although experts did not know it. Within four months the gain was so marked that everybody could see it. Within 16 months business was so far above normal that experts became frightened again.

"Today the major economic factors are more favorable to a rapid recovery of business than they were in 1921.

"It is my sober belief that, just as the depressionists of 1921 were routed, so the depressionists of 1931 are in for a rude awakening."

SAYS PRESIDENT William O'Neil, of General Tire:

Since 1918 a great many of our distributors have actually attained the greatest success they ever have made in retailing tires. They have averaged a better margin of profit on their investment than any other line of retail endeavor. Their business has gone ahead better than the old established lines, such as clothing, shoes, department stores, etc.

"In 1918 there was a larger percentage of tires sold under special brands than there are in 1931. The volume of business done by the hardware jobber and the grocery jobber and by 'gyp' concerns was greater in percentage in 1918 than the volume obtained today by the mail order house and the hardware jobber combined. The other jobbers have passed out of the tire picture.

"From 1920 to 1931 the annual business of the General Tire and Rubber Company has increased from $4,500,000 to $26,000,000.

"In March, April and May, this year, our business was ahead of the same period in 1930, not only in units, but also in dollars and cents."

RESPECTFULLY submitted—(without comment).

EAST CENTRAL OIL RAISED

Stock Exchange Topics

Wall Street Watching Trend in Business Closely

The week-end news of the sending of troops into East Texas to enforce a shut down of the wells which had been filling the void in the market caused by the Oklahoma suspension might have been expected to send oil shares upward yesterday. But while the oil group was relatively firm it lacked the support of an advancing market generally. As pressure lifted from the market around the opening today however oil shares were placed in speculative favor for an advance as result of the events in Texas. Practically the entire group moved into new high ground for the current rise with Texas Corporation an outstanding performer. The weekly Oil and Gas Journal production figures showed a decrease of 67,162 barrels from the preceding week. Considering the extent of the curtailment in Oklahoma a much greater decrease would have been recorded had not the East Texas fields stepped up production to meet the increased demand which followed the closing of the Oklahoma wells by Gov. Murray's edict and troops. Low priced oil shares were marked up substantially and some of these including Continental and Tide Water, have doubled their low prices of the year.

Support came into the market around the opening today at what chart traders usually refer to as the "right place." Yesterday's selloff cancelled more than one-third of the previous advance and brought the market measured by averages usually followed in the Street, down approximately to top of the rebound early last week. Chart-traders had been looking for support at that point and as long as the decline went no further were read to describe yesterday's decline as merely a technical reaction with the main trend still upward. What the chart-traders are mainly interested in now is whether the market will be able to cross the tops of last week's rise with sufficient volume and strength to indicate a further upswing. In that event as the chart-traders dope it out the next important level ahead would be the resistance level marking the heights of the Hoover moratorium rally in June.

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company and international economist crystalizes the opinion of Cleveland bankers on the Toledo situation as follows:—"There has been no betrayal of faith in the Toledo banking. The worst that can be said is that an undue proportion of assets of these banks could not be converted into cash on demand. It is trite to speak of a financial situation as fundamentally sound. The phrase itself is in disrepute, yet that is literally true of Toledo. The outstanding need in the Toledo situation is confidence and leadership. I am advised that the banks that closed are in reality solvent.

East Texas refiners with large contracts for gasoline are faced with a shortage of crude oil due to the proclamation of Gov. Sterling shutting down wells. Refinery storage in Houston, Tex. totals 163,000 barrels a two-days supply. A survey of East Texas fields reveals a total of 3,685,225 barrels of crude oil in storage. Oklahoma refineries which have been depending on East Texas crude oil since the Oklahoma shutdown order became effective also are faced with a shortage of crude. Military authorities have checked up on tank car movements of crude and have placed an embargo on shipments.

Like contestants in a foot race, some industrial corporations outstrip their competitors in the march from business depression to prosperity. The problem of the investors is to choose the winners and to select the stocks of corporations which are likely to make more than average progress in the prosperity race. Here are a few suggestions along this line, as offered by one of the well-known stock exchange houses. The food stocks, because a growing population must be fed, and the well-managed companies are adjusting their costs and improving. The public utility stocks, because their product is a daily household as well as business necessity. The chemical stocks, because chemistry is making amazing progress and its future carries wonderful possibilities. The oil stocks, because oil consumption is increasing enormously and sooner or later the industry will solve the vexing problem of overproduction of crude oil.

Drug Incorporated Profit Gains Over 1930

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

ANOTHER DEPRESSION PROOF company has come to light with the publication of the semi-annual statement of Drug, Inc. Net profit for the six months ended June 30, 1931, showed a gain over the corresponding period of last year and covered dividend requirements for the period by a margin of 52 per cent.

Net profit for the half year was $10,652,510 after interest, depreciation, federal taxes and subsidiary dividends, which was equivalent to $3.04 a share on 3,501,499 shares of stock. In the first six months of 1930 net profit was $10,542,007 or $3.01 a share.

Operating economies were apparent in the statement. Gross profit of $36,606,828 was $826,613 less than in the corresponding period of last year but expenses were reduced $1,218,540. Larger charges for depreciation were made this year than last year.

Dividends Earned

DRUG, INC., HAS only one class of stock. It pays dividends of $1 quarterly. Earnings for the six months were sufficient to cover dividend requirements for the first nine months of the year. The company was incorporated March 2, 1928, and paid an initial dividend at this rate on June 1, 1928.

The organization was formed as a holding company to control the Sterling Products Corporation and United Drug Company. It subsequently acquired other manufacturing and distributing companies in the drug field including May Drug Stores Corporation in this city.

Interest Charges Well Covered

FUNDED DEBT OF SUBSIDIARIES totaled $43,862,987 at the close of 1930. Interest charges were earned 11.63 times in that year. They will be covered by an even greater margin this year since earnings are exceeding last year and the debt will be reduced by the maturity of $1,000,000 of United Drug 5 per cent notes.

Drug, Inc.'s, earnings have shown steady growth since its organization as a result of expansion into new territories and the acquisition of new properties.

In 1928 earnings were $12,022,086 or $5.50 a share on 2,189,000 shares. This increased to $17,021,021 or $6.35 on 2,678,713 shares in 1929 and to $21,130,220 or $6.03 on 3,501,499 shares in 1930.

Operates 656 Stores

A TOTAL OF 656 RETAIL stores are operated by Drug, Inc. In addition the organization makes a wide range of drug and household products under the trade names of Puretest, Liggett and Rexall. Among its products are such well known brands as Bayer's Aspirin, Phillips Milk of Magnesia, Ipana Tooth Paste and Three In One Oil.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady, unchanged to 12 to 18 points lower under selling which was evidently influenced by further declines in Liverpool.

GOOD ADVICE

Girl With Good Position Usually Endures Minor Annoyances—Fay King

By FAY KING.

When a girl has a good position she does not let minor annoyances drive her from her good place.

She learns to make the best of it when the boss is irritable and even unreasonable in his orders and criticism.

She does not snap back at him, grab her hat and coat and walk away from a job in which there is more that is pleasant than unpleasant.

She knows that any other position she might find would also have its little trials and irritations, and might not be as reliable.

In general, she likes where she is.

It would take the same tact and diplomacy in the home as there would in an office, divorces would diminish.

There are no perfect bosses or husbands.

H. S. Q. I am 12 years of age, 5 feet 1 inch tall. What should I weigh?

A. You should weigh about 110 pounds.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Her Social Manners

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. If a boy asks a girl to go to the theater or outing with him, what is the proper thing to say?

2. What is the proper thing to say when he brings you home?

3. If it is not too late would it be all right to ask him to come in for awhile?

READER.

1. Thank you. I should love to go. Or, That's very kind of asking me. It's very kind of and I should love to do other week. Think for the thought and remember to say you can or will accept.

2. Again, thank you for his kind thought and express your enjoyment of the entertainment. Say something like this: "Thank you very much for such a delightful evening. I've had such a happy time going with you to the theater. Then it would be very kind for you to ask me again, and I'll play it's a return invitation."

3. If you feel that you would be sure that you have a way for a visit, you may ask whether she would like to go in when you bring her home, that is for her to suggest. If you invitation. When a girl often considers that extends this half of the date. Then the young man may be in the meantime may be judging her social manners by this invitation.

Good Wishes for the Bride

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Would you be so kind as to tell me whether or not it is proper to send a card of good wishes and congratulations to a bride-to-be?

If it should be sent to her so that she will receive it on her wedding day using her maiden name, or should it be sent after the wedding?

I do not know the groom, nor do I intend to give the bride a wedding gift.

R. H.

It is very charming and friendly of you to write the bride-to-be a note of good wishes, sent of congratulations, for this word is reserved for the groom, and to send it to her in her maiden name, of course, a few days before her marriage. She will be very happy to receive such a thoughtful letter, and it will be somewhat in the form of a wedding gift, a spiritual gift. Don't send a ready-made card—write a note.

After a Dance

Dear Mr. Beeckman:

What is the proper thing to say to a young man who says "Thank you" after the dance?

A. S.

The girl says something that shows her enthusiasm about the music. "It was delightful," or "I thoroughly enjoyed it," or "That was a fine dance, Bob."

Fanchon Is Only Survivor in Airplane Tragedy

CHAPTER V

After awhile—[illegible]—at a time when she was harassed and harried by questions and utterances she was forced to confess she remembered little or nothing of the period between the return to consciousness and the present. She remembered coming up out of bitter waters, choking, shrieking. She opened her eyes aware of terror and of stinging pain. She was pressed in, she was hemmed in. A weight lay across her lower body. Hurtingly, she dragged herself free. The weight was—Evelyn Howard, lying prone, lying bloody across Fanchon's thighs. Fanchon remembered dimly pulling, hauling, dragging herself, and the inert weight of the other girl—her.

There were trees. Rough ground. No sign of a house. The storm was a pulse, but the heavy rain still fell. The plane, a twisted mass of flaming wreckage. Bodies. Fanchon Meredith looked down at her hand. She [illegible] incident, the [illegible] which Evelyn [illegible] Fanchon [illegible] She was [illegible] her arm from the [illegible] dow glass, [illegible] and bruised [illegible] and miraculously [illegible]

The [illegible] where Fanchon [illegible] of what she did [illegible] —lying at some distance from the plane. Fanchon [illegible] to her, stumbled to it from weakness and fell to [illegible] painfully over on her knees.

Evelyn's face was almost unrecognizable. [illegible] one blood-stained wrist. Her own hand was cut. There was, she thought, [illegible]

Somehow she got back to her others . . . what was left of them. One [illegible] glance told her there was nothing she could do for [illegible] tle that she could [illegible] nize.

EMOTION DULL

The gas [illegible] might explode the plane [illegible] in flames. It was raining, perhaps that provided a [illegible] of safety. She didn't know. She only knew that somehow she must get away, must escape.

She returned to Evelyn and half lifted, half dragged her body to a safer position. She knew nothing of [illegible] of that treacherous [illegible] the gas tank which [illegible] them, looking [illegible] ing.

Trees. [illegible] sky and the [illegible] was soaked to the [illegible]

She sat down [illegible] Evelyn, she [illegible] dead. Then [illegible] Evelyn no [illegible] East with [illegible] never seen. [illegible] fast in her [illegible] no happy [illegible]

Weakly, piteously, Fanchon began to cry. She felt [illegible] nothing. She had been flying toward uncertainty, certain only that she was trying to escape.

Evelyn's aunt would mourn, thought Fanchon. Yet she had never known this girl. Had never seen her, knew nothing of her beyond her own vague little description . . . dark hair, blue eyes . . . and a snapshot taken on board the steamer.

Taken with Fanchon.

Would people have seen, would people have heard the great bird falling to its doom? Fanchon tried to remember! They had not, she thought, fallen from much altitude. The crash had come fairly close to the ground. But the trees—

It had been the merest chance that she alone of eight people should have survived.

Her arm bled badly. She looked about for her handkerchief. She had none. Her little handbag, her suitcase was somewhere in the wreckage. On the ground beside her lay Evelyn's pocketbook. She opened it, took out a handkerchief with Evelyn's name sewn upon it and picking up a little branch, broken off from the trees, flung by the wind, she made a very amateurish tourniquet to stop the flow of blood. Her arm ached, she felt numb now, with the pressure on it.

In Evelyn's bag there were money . . . letters . . . calling cards . . . there were small cabinet photographs of Fanchon indeed, her dead parents. Idle she studied them, the pretty face of the woman, the lean, worn face of the man.

Evelyn . . .

Why were she not dead in Evelyn's place?

THINKS OF TONY

Why were she not alive—in Evelyn's place?

The idea came to her slowly. It took time to permeate. She sat huddled by the unconscious body of the other girl, rain beating down upon her. Some distance away was the pitiful wreckage, the sights and terrors of death.

Fanchon was alone, alone with death, under the gray skies, under the merciless rain, alone in a little hollow of ground between small rolling hills, hemmed in by tall trees.

Mechanically she looked at her wrist watch. The crystal was shattered, the watch had stopped. She had not even its friendly ticking reminder of fleeting time, never to be retrieved, for companionship.

Money in Evelyn's bag.

Fanchon's own handbag was gone. Close to her golden skin, pinned to the little corset she wore was a large amount of the money which Tony had given her.

She had enough, even without the sum in the lost handbag, to go on with, once she was rescued.

To go on, where . . .? and toward what?

She had to think of Tony now. Tony would hear of the plane crash. Tony might think her dead. But Tony would learn that "Miss Smith," alone of eight human souls, had survived the disaster.

If "Miss Smith" had died Tony could never find her again, never come to claim her. If "Miss Smith" had died the whole dreadful time of panic, the hunted days, would be forgotten, would be as if they had never existed.

Could not Miss Smith die? thought Fanchon, who lived.

CONSIDERS DECEPTION

She looked down at her arm. Evelyn Howard said the small black letters sewn neatly on the handkerchief, small black symbols, avenues of escape.

Evelyn was dark of hair, she had blue eyes—and her hair was dabbled now with a crimson stain, her eyes were closed.

Evelyn was 24. Fanchon a scant two years younger. They were the same height, the same slender build although Fanchon's figure was beauty itself and Evelyn's passable only. But Fanchon's hair was dark and Fanchon's eyes were blue.

She thought rapidly, looking away from the other girl—

If I go to New York—as Evelyn.

Mrs. Carstairs does not know her niece. Could I play the part of—an imposter?

In that case, Miss Smith would die; and Evelyn Howard would live. Tony would hear of Miss Smith's death . . .

She did not look very far into the future. She considered few of the pitfalls and dangers that would surround her. She was intent only on the present. On getting away—as Evelyn Howard . . . on reaching New York and safety and security—as Evelyn Howard . . .

After that, after a time of security, she might, she thought, disappear again . . . escape once more . . . go perhaps far out of the country . . . and begin life all over again.

Synopsis

While the newsboys shouted "All about the big gang killing," Fanchon Meredith and a man named Tons planned their getaway. Tony gave Fanchon $1000 and reserves passage for her under the name of "Miss Smith" on an airplane chartered by the wealthy Mr. [illegible] en route to New York. A fellow passenger whom she previously had met on the boat coming from Hawaii, recognizes Fanchon. She is Evelyn Howard. Evelyn is going to live with the wealthy Mrs. Allison Carstairs, an aunt whom she has never seen. Fanchon envies Evelyn flying to happiness, while she is trying to escape because she was Tony's girl—Tony, who lied his way through life and whom she had innocently accepted on face value. Fanchon confides in Evelyn about her love for Tony.

DAILY SHORT STORY 'Wish You Were Here'

Dignified Professor Resents Vacation Postcards

"The new curriculum, Miss Bolton, is a move in the right direction."

Winona Bolton was all attention as Prof. Merton Abbott spoke. She looked into his steady blue eyes and seemed to be drinking in every word. But in truth she was wishing that he wouldn't "talk shop" all the time.

She was wishing that he would unbend, forget the old school and talk to her like a human young man to a human young lady.

But Winona did not get her wish.

Winona taught in the fifth grade. Prof. Abbott was principal of the school. They both lived at "The Elms," an exclusive family boarding house only a few blocks from the school.

"I believe that the students will be greatly benefited, and that even in your grade there will be a benefit, a sort of groundwork to start them along toward the rather drastic changes in the upper grades, albiet, it may demand a little more work on our part at first."

She wished he would talk like a regular chap and not like a text book, but she merely said: "I am sure it will be worth the extra time we have to devote to it."

"That is the spirit, Miss Bolton—"

"Here comes the letter carrier down the street," said Winona. "Perhaps I will hear from my aunt in Shoremont, where I want to go for my vacation—where are you going, Mr. Abbott, for your vacation?"

"I shall remain here. I have a great deal of work to do."

"Oh, but a little vacation is necessary. I am sure that we need it even more than the children—and most of mine are scattered here and there on mountains and shores."

The letter-carrier came up the steps and deposited the mail on a table on the veranda.

LETTER FROM AUNT

"You don't seem at all anxious about mail, Mr. Abbott," Winona said.

"Not now. It isn't time for the proofs from my new series of text books, and that is all that interests me"—

She went through her mail eagerly and found the letter from her aunt in Shoremont.

"Lovely — perfectly lovely. Auntie May wants me to come, she has the loveliest big hotel—and she treats me like a guest, but won't accept a penny—she says that school teachers are greatly underpaid," Winona rattled on.

"Ah, but there is the satisfaction in our work, Miss Bolton," the professor said.

He glanced through his cards—nearly a score of them from the students who were away on vacation.

"Of all the inane things a picture postcard takes the lead," he said crossly, "and of all the stupid, asinine things to do is to write 'Wish you were here' on the card."

"But Prof. Abbott, it is the thought," Winona protested. "The children think of us, and kindly else they would not spend their nickels for cards or their time in sending them."

"You are quite wrong about it, Miss Bolton; the thing that lies back of sending these postcards is neither thoughtfulness nor kindness nor sincerity—it is pride, boastfulness. The people who send these cards tell themselves that the card is proof of their presence there—they are boasting that they are traveling or vacationing, and when they write 'Wish you were here' they really mean 'Don't you wish you were here?' It is a small matter, yet it affords an insight on human nature."

WINONA BLUSHES

"Why Prof. Abbott—it seems almost unkind to say that I am sure I never sent a card and wrote 'Wish you were here'—"

"Of course you never did that. You are quite superior, mentally, to any such a thing," the professor declared, impressively.

Winona blushed a little.

"Now here is another thing that people, adults as well as children do, see this?"

He showed her a card in gaudy colors supposed to illustrate a summer hotel. At one of the windows an X in ink had been made. At the bottom the sender had written:

"X marks our room—having great fun."

"Silly—as if one could get any impression of the room or view or as if one could find anything of interest in it. A letter describing the place visited would be of interest."

"Well, Mr. Abbott, I really don't believe it is of sufficient importance, either way, to become disturbed about."

SENDS POSTCARD

"Oh no, I was merely pointing out, Miss Bolton, how this habit of sending 'Wish-you-were-here' cards is a nonsensical streak of human nature . . ."

"Well, I am going to my Aunt May's hotel at Shoremont, it is called Hotel Shoremont. I shall go the first of August," Winona told him.

"That will be nice—if you like such places, but why should a place on a shore have a 'ment' attached, for that means 'mountain'?"

"Oh, a mountain runs right down to the shore there—it is lovely. You really ought to see the place, Mr. Abbott."

"I prefer the quietude of this place to the constant movement and babble of a summer resort."

The afternoon sun was waning. The professor and Winona enjoyed a few sets of tennis.

And so the weeks passed until August came and it was time for Winona to go to her aunt's big hotel at Shoremont.

"Dear me," said the professor, "I shall miss you, Miss Bolton—I shall miss our tennis and the rides. I shall be quite lonesome."

"Oh, no, Mr. Abbott, your proofs will come soon and they will keep you occupied—although I would love to have you come down to Shoremont."

Little more was said. Winona went to her aunt's summer hotel at Shoremont. Prof. Abbott could not find a suitable partner for tennis. He missed the daily chats, games and drives with Winona.

For that matter, Winona missed the professor.

After a week Winona thought that it would be a good lark if she would send the professor a picture postcard. She did. It was a picture of the beach and ledges by alleged moonlight. And then some imp of mischief prompted her to write on the bottom of the card, "Wish you were here."

He looked at the card. There was a great golden moon making a path across the sad sea waves, a stretch of beach and some ledges. It looked cool.

He examined the card again and smiled. Miss Bolton had sent it merely as a joke, as a result of their conversation about such things. He examined the card more minutely. On the ledge was a silhouette. By close inspection he could see that it was intended to represent a pair of lovers in each other's arms, sitting on the ledge.

In the cool of the evening he went down street as far as the drug store and got a picture postcard of the main street of the town. On it he wrote: "I am glad you are not here, in the terrific heat," he slipped this into an envelope and then, in a spirit of humor that was most amazing, he took the card Winona had sent him, drew an arrow pointing to the silhouetted lovers on the ledge and wrote, "Do you mean right here?"

Winona gasped when she got this but she was game, she wrote again, under it, in glowing red ink, "I certainly do!"

It was four days later when Prof. Abbott arrived at Hotel Shoremont and took a nice large cool room, just vacated.

QUIET WEDDING

That evening the professor walked down to the ledge with her. It was moonlight and cool and romantic. Before so very long Winona and the professor were silhouetted against the moonlit sky very much like the couple pictured on the card.

The result was a quiet little wedding down there within the next fortnight.

Prof. Abbott sent the modest newspaper announcement of his marriage to his only relative, a married sister. He slipped a picture postcard of Hotel Shoremont into the envelope and under one of the windows he had drawn a big X in ink. At the bottom he wrote:

"X marks our room—having great fun."

As man has advanced through the ages his progress is but the history of his gratified desires. Institutions that filled man's wants survived—or, failing to do so, crumbled into dust.

Newer and more urgent needs created better methods—system—service—classification. System and Classification in this newspaper have been combined for your welfare.

Americans Seek Chance To Work, Not Mere Doles

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

ONE of the 10 children of a destitute couple in Mariner's Harbor, Staten Island, died of starvation, and shortly thereafter the unemployed father received offers of 35 jobs.

The heart of the American people is still tender and sympathetic, but mere good will and the spirit of charity are not enough to deal with millions of family heads who are similarly unemployed.

MORE THAN MERE SYMPATHY IS REQUIRED.

Likewise, the well-intentioned announcement by the executive director of the Association of Community Chests and Councils that it will be entirely able to take care of the burden of relief next winter is likewise off key.

It is not enough to give succor to the industrial casualties as they fall by the wayside.

The larger problem of economic and political statesmanship is to seek to stop the economic war of attrition.

The prolongation of the depression, with the unjust incidence of its burdens, constitutes a fundamental challenge to the intelligence of men.

The basic question is whether modern folk are capable of managing their affairs.

The breakdown of prosperity springs from no calamitous visitation nor from any niggardliness of nature.

CHILDREN AND THEIR PARENTS ARE UNDERNOURISHED AMIDST PLENTY.

MARKETS ARE GLUTTED WITH UNSALABLE COMMODITIES WHILE HUNGRY PERSONS STARVE.

UNTIL a sensible readjustment has been accomplished, charity will be, of course, needed in individual cases.

Organized charity must be especially alert during the coming third winter of widespread unemployment.

But the responsibility of leadership goes deeper.

The essential job is to seek to deal with the causes of continued depression, rather than with the inevitable effects.

Until recently, the deflation was perhaps the necessary price which society had to pay for its economic sins and excesses during the earlier speculative boom.

But at length the mistakes have been thoroughly liquidated and further deflation can have only a destructive influence.

MERE passive wondering and waiting will not check the momentum of declining markets, which spell suffering and distress for millions of our citizens.

THERE IS POINT IN SENATOR JAMES COUZENS' DEMAND THAT PRESIDENT HOOVER CALL CONGRESS IN SPECIAL SESSION NOT LATER THAN OCTOBER 1, SO THAT IT MAY AUTHORIZE REMEDIAL MEASURES.

INSTEAD OF EMULATING THE DANGEROUS OLD WORLD EXPERIMENT WITH THE DOLE, CONGRESS OUGHT INSTEAD TO AUTHORIZE A HUGE PROSPERITY LOAN FOR SOCIAL RECONSTRUCTION AND WIDESPREAD DEVELOPMENT OF ESSENTIAL PUBLIC WORKS.

The program must be large enough in conception to prove a decisive factor in turning the scales of business.

Leading scientific economists and social workers advocate speeding up public works in time of business depression as a means of stabilizing the economic cycle.

The federal government ought really to be fully prepared with detailed construction plans for emergency use.

THE success of the tonic, of course, depends on the sympathetic administration of the program by capable executive officers.

By this very token, it would raise the buying power of the public and accordingly set in motion forces making for normal business, especially if accompanied by a skillful central banking policy of credit easement.

It would represent a gallant effort on the part of management in the large to shape the course of events.

It would be an attempt to substitute human control through wise exercise of the will for oriental fatalism and passive resignation.

The country has not hesitated to spend billions for warfare. WHY SHOULD IT BE AFRAID TO APPROPRIATE A FEW BILLIONS FOR LASTING NATIONAL IMPROVEMENT AND PUBLIC WELFARE?

THE suggested "moral equivalent for war" would lift men from despair, and turn their eyes again toward solid progress and development.

It is ridiculous to assume that no work remains to be done in the world.

What is needed is a new and energizing viewpoint.

THE RESPONSIBILITY IS WITH THE PRESIDENT AND WITH CONGRESS.

The regular session of the national legislature will, of course, come TOO LATE for ameliorating conditions this coming winter.

THE EMERGENCY WARRANTS THE PROMPT CALLING OF A SPECIAL SESSION.

The Girl Men Don't Forget

ENGLAND DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

LONDON, August 18.—Even unidentified mendicants from here are not much. It would not do to have the scum of the earth all over.

Every morning at 8 a sort of public procession passes these bell towns and the market place open. The army of hopeful and resigned buyers file past.

The shabby Billingsgate stall is one of the oldest spots in the town. It was there London began, about where the first merchants gathered. The name of Billingsgate came from Belin, one King of Britons. I once was caught in a rainstorm on Billingsgate as a result of some tongue was a libel. I have heard tradesmen talk at the Bar.

Londoners speak of their town as "wife of Bath capitals" as Dickens protagonist Babbitts. In Ireland one rarely hears of cities expressing and flourishing, other than Liverpool, Manchester and Dublin. The national spirit was long ago expressed by Dr. Johnson with: "When a man is tired of London he is tired of life for there is in London all life can afford."

* * *

Returning to The City from Billingsgate before 9 a.m. I was struck with regard to perk into that famous room in Dowing Street known to Fleet Streeters as The Invisible Voice of the Empire. Theoretically it is only here the throne speaks. Officially it is occupied by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council and is the last appeal of all British subjects. It is chillingly formal machine colored and extraordinarily solemn. Four fireplaces in carved marble slightly relieve the stiffness. Left handed traffic here makes Americans cant like learns out of pole to skip gutters for
